Funeral Services For Pennington Family Scheduled 2 P.M. Thursday

Services for Paul Pennington, his wife, Leona May Pennington, and son John Jeffrey Pennington, will be held 2 p.m. Thursday at Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

All three were killed in a car-truck crash 11:16 a.m. Monday at Walnut Twp. School. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Kingston.

12 Dead in 1972

Three other Pennington children, who survived the accident, were admitted to area hospitals for treatment of injuries. One, James R. age 9, is listed in "poor" condition in Children's Hospital, Columbus with a lacerated chest wall and ruptured spleen.

Paul M., age 15, and Kevin L. 14, were admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment of injuries and are both listed in "fair" condition. Paul is suffering from a lacerated right chest wall, scalp lacerations, a collapsed right lung and fractured ribs. Kevin is being treated for a lacerated back and left shoulder, multiple contusions and abrasions to his left shoulder and back.

Toll In Ireland Reaches 500

Talks Are Opened Between Opponents

BELFAST (AP) — The death toll in three years of religious warfare in Northern Ireland reached 500 Monday night, according to revised police figures, as Roman Catholic politicians opened secret peace talks with British officials.

Police headquarters said William Henry Creighton, a 40-year-old lance corporal in the Ulster Defense Regiment, became the 500th victim of the violence that started 36 months ago. The first fatality was on Aug. 14, 1969.

Creighton, who was in uniform, was killed by a gunman hiding in the bushes 15 yards from his home at Magheravally, close to the border with the Irish Republic.

Police said the count of 500 was a revision. Earlier, before Creighton's death, a total of 493 was being used but all such figures are considered inexact because the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army usually carry off their dead and bury them secretly.

Talks began in secret Monday between Britain's administrator for Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw, and leaders of the Social Democratic and Labor Party, the opposition group that represents the province's Roman Catholic minority.

The talks were to continue today. But nobody would say what was discussed or what progress, if any, was made.

Both sides are operating under delicate conditions. Whitelaw faces the possibility of backlash from the Protestant majority for talking to the Catholics while violence persists.

Federal Aid Sought For Storm Damage

VERMILION, Ohio (AP) — Vermilion Mayor John W. Maiden said he will seek state and federal aid for his city after strong winds described by witnesses as a tornado caused an estimated $400,000 damage Monday morning.

Maiden said private and public property damage was extensive in the Lorain County town's commercial district and in nearby residential areas. No injuries were reported.

JAMES LINK BROWN AND C. WILLIAM SWANK

Link Brown Receives First Reward Check

"This is the first one under the property protection services," C. William Swank, Ohio Farm Bureau executive vice president, said in presenting a $500 check to James Link Brown, Route 1, Ashville, Tuesday morning.

The new program, Reward, provides a $500 reward which is paid to anyone giving information that leads to the arrest and conviction for various crimes including arson, malicious injury to property, burglary or other felonies committed on Farm Bureau member's property," according to Swank during the presentation ceremonies at the Pickaway County Farm Bureau office.

The program was implemented in March by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation to combat crime in rural areas of Ohio and is in effect for Farm Bureau members in all 88 counties.

On March 25, Brown observed a car at the Lowell White residence, Route 1, Ashville. Seeing two men run from the house, and get into a car, he pursued them as they drove away, obtained the license number and reported the information to Pickaway County.

Fischer To Play 'Mean' Tonight

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer "will be playing mean tonight," a friend said today as the American challenger and Soviet chess champion Boris Spassky prepared for their 12th game.

Fischer was crushed by Spassky in just 31 moves Sunday, trimming the American's lead in the 24-game match to 6½-4½. A win counts a full point, a draw a half.

It was Fischer's first defeat since the opening game July 12, and the friend added: "Bobby hates losing."

Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff. One of the suspects, Daniel R. Broughton, was convicted of breaking and entering on June 7 in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. The reward was not reported until today to give county and state Farm Bureau personnel time to review the reward claim.

Bureau President Mrs. Valerie Wilson, Route 1, and Gerald R. Wolford, Route 1, Stoutsville, county "Reward" committee chairman and Sheriff Radcliff were also present at today's meeting. Other members of the "Reward" committee are Donald K. Bower, Route 1, Circleville, and Carl Schein, Route 2, Circleville.

'Too Much Love' Blamed In Woman's Suicide Note

MIAMI (AP) — A note found in a young blonde's car parked below the 30-story apartment house said, "I had to do it. I had no other choice. It's nobody's fault, only too much love."

The note was scrawled across a cigarette carton written partially in German and partially in English.

"It doesn't make much sense to commit suicide because of too much love," Homicide Sgt. Eugene McCracken said Monday after 23-year-old Susanne Schiefer plunged 21 floors to her death.

Police said the victim's husband, Dr. Sigbert Schiefer, a 30-year-old visiting Austrian chemist, "broke up completely" when informed of his wife's death.

McCracken said Schiefer later told investigators "he thought it was odd when she kissed him goodbye twice this morning."

Officers said the young couple was married in Venice last fall and came to Miami as newlyweds.

Dr. Schiefer told police his wife became desperately homesick for her parents so he arranged for them to come here for a visit. They were due to arrive in Miami in three days.

The young biochemist said his wife had become distraught about the cost of the trip.

When officers were unable to translate the note found in the victim's car, building employees summoned Klaus Vosbeck, a resident.

"Everything is wrong. God will punish me," Vosbeck started reading aloud from the note in the lobby. "I have chosen the easiest way for myself and also the hardest way for the others. Remember me..."

Then a detective interrupted when he found Mrs. Schiefer's passport photo in her purse.

Vosbeck gasped, then stammered, "That can't be the girl who jumped!"

Shaken and pale, he then tearfully told officers that he worked with Dr. Schiefer and he and his wife were the Austrian couple's closest friends.

Rain Washes Eastern Areas Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Storms and thundershowers washed much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today. The Southeast was warm and the Southwest remained hot and dry.

The rains came, some locally heavy, from the central Plains to New England and from the lower Great Lakes to South Carolina.

A flash-flood watch was in effect late Monday in the mountains and foothills of South Carolina. Severe thunderstorm warnings were posted in parts of South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Arkansas. Power failures and uprooted trees resulted from heavy rains and high winds in South Dakota.

Winds uprooted trees and damaged barns in a 300-yard-wide path near York, Pa. And widely scattered thundershowers rumbled from western Texas to California and over the northern and central Rockies.

Unseasonably cool temperatures chilled much of the Midwest.

Fear Thrust From Cambodia Also Possible

SAIGON (AP) — Communist-led forces slashed into South Vietnamese militiamen 17 miles east of Saigon today near a highway leading to the resort town of Vung Tau.

Reports reaching Saigon at dusk said 30-40 South Vietnamese troops were killed and an equal number wounded.

There was no count on enemy losses.

By nightfall, the fighting had tapered off to sporadic contact, field reports said.

Meanwhile, Communist-led forces backed by tanks were reported to have threatened three towns in eastern Cambodia, raising fears of new thrusts across the border into the Mekong Delta and provinces north and west of Saigon.

Messages from Kompong Trabek, on the Saigon Phnom Penh highway 85 miles west of the South Vietnamese capital, indicated the Cambodians were still fighting there on the west bank of the Prek Trakek River but had abandoned that part of the city lying on the east bank.

Sources in Phnom Penh said North Vietnamese tanks were sighted east of Kompong Trakek advancing toward the besieged provincial capital of Svay Rieng, 20 miles to the east and about five miles from the Vietnamese border.

Another column of North Vietnamese infantrymen and tanks was reported heading toward Prey Veng, a provincial capital 25 miles northwest of Kompong Trakek.

U.S. bombers were supporting the Cambodians, and the U.S. Command claimed they knocked out 14 tanks Sunday and Monday. The Cambodian command said its air and ground forces destroyed another seven.

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 bombers made heavy strikes in the southern part of North Vietnam, aimed primarily at fuel supplies for the Quang Tri and Hue battlefields.

Thirty of the Stratofortresses carried out the raids around the port of Dong Hoi, 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone, saturating a wide area with more than 700 tons of bombs.

Another 20 B52s struck at North Vietnamese troop concentrations menacing the western flanks of Hue. These strikes were concentrated around Fire Base Bastogne and an outpost called Checkmate, 12 miles southwest of Hue, where there have been increasing North Vietnamese shellfire and infantry assaults.

North Vietnamese gunners continued to pour hundreds of artillery rounds into South Vietnamese positions on the northern front.

Sharp fighting also was reported in the Qe Son Valley, 25 miles south of Da Nang. The Saigon said 30 North Vietnamese troops were killed, while government losses were two killed and 15 wounded.

Moscow, Peking Feuding Again Over Borders

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and China are feuding publicly again over their border in Asia.

Publication in Peking of a new Chinese world atlas opened the latest round in the dispute that has its origins centuries ago, when Chars and emperors ruled the two countries.

"The authors of this geographical study," the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said Monday night, "are trying to justify the territorial claims of the Chinese leadership for 1½ million square kilometers of age old Soviet territory." This equals 579,000 square miles.

The lengthy article was called "Geography, Maoist Style." In 1963 — as Chinese-Soviet relations rapidly disintegrated — China aired a vague claim to the same amount of land in Siberia and the Soviet Far East.

The Chinese argued that the lands had been taken by treaties imposed unfairly on the weak imperial Chinese government in the 19th Century.

The Soviet claim is based on physical possession of the area as well as Russian exploration and settlement of the eastern reaches of Siberia in the early 17th Century and their formal annexation in 1649.

Russia ceded the territory back to China in 1690 and 1728. But Moscow contends these treaties were "unequal and unfair," the same charge China raises against the 19th Century Aygun and Peking Treaties under which Russia recovered the territory.

"The People's Republic of China is... the only big state whose leadership picks territorial quarrels with its neighbors in the North and South, in the East and West," Izvestia said. "Those who put forward absurd demands to the USSR... should recall the way the Soviet people regard such claims."

This could be a reference to the battle on March 2, 1969, between Soviet and Chinese troops at Damasky Island, in the Ussuri River, which forms the Far Eastern frontier. It was the first of five armed clashes, officially announced and protested, and hundreds of lesser incidents during the following six months.

The Soviet side reported 31 dead and 14 injured in the March 2 clash, the Chinese gave no casualty report.

Premier Alexei N. Kosygin flew to Peking in September 1969 and arranged for border negotiations which are still going on, but there has been no indication of any progress toward an agreement.

Both governments continue to beef up their frontier military forces. An American expert on China, Prof. Lucian Pye of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said last month the Russians have more than one million soldiers on their side of the border.

The compromise may have improved chances for early Senate passage of the agreement limiting offensive nuclear arsenals, although initial reaction to the developments Monday was decidedly mixed.

The White House publicly endorsed Sen. Henry M. Jackson's amendment to the five-year SALT agreement after Jackson eliminated its strongest provision: a note to Russia that installing multiple warheads capable of destroying U.S. missile silos on its 313 largest intercontinental missile could threaten American security and cause the United States to disown the interim SALT agreement.

The Washington Democrat introduced the amendment last week, arousing a storm of protest from some senators who support the pact.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott joined Jackson in proposing the amendment, leading some senators to conclude it had White House support from the beginning.

The White House emphasized it had worked with Jackson on the amendment in order to win over critics who fear the agreement could endanger U.S. security because it concedes the Soviets a temporary edge in the total number of land and sea based missiles.

Protest Fund Slash
CINCINNATI (AP) — Two bus loads of inner city residents were scheduled to descend on the Columbus office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development at 2:30 p.m. today to protest a $3.4 million slash from Cincinnati Neighborhood Development Program.

In the suit before Castle, the furniture company said it planned to appeal the decision to the 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals. A decision by the appellate court would be binding on all county courts in its jurisdiction.

Castle and Gilday said the decisions are not binding on judges from other common pleas and municipal courts in Ohio and the jurists may interpret the state law differently.

Castle's decision applied to a suit filed by Melinda Shaw of Cincinnati. She refused to pay $57 remaining on a $609 furniture purchase here. She said the company refused to reimburse her for a $150 repair bill on a television that was part of the purchase.

Gilday dismissed four similar suits. He said that until the Ohio Legislature enacts a law affording a court hearing before goods can be repossessed, he will continue to dismiss the actions.

The Pennington family had just constructed a new home on the Circleville - Groveport Road and Bell-Station-Fairfield Road and had completed painting the two-story frame structure Monday morning.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal, first to arrive at the accident said the Pennington auto was headed east on the Ashville-Fairfield Road when Deeds Dairy driver, Howard Reed, 51, Lancaster, failed to stop at the stop sign on the Circleville-Winchester Road.

The two-ton truck loaded with refrigerated ice cream mix, was traveling about 25 miles per hour, according to Reed, and hit the Pennington car directly in its left side. The car veered through a slight ditch and ended about 12 feet from the road in a cornfield, 51 feet from impact.

The truck, spinning around 40 feet, came to rest in a left ditch after knocking down a gas regulator.

Reed, who usually drives his route on Route 23, said this was the first time he had ever driven on the Circleville-Winchester Road. He stated he (Continued on Page 2)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite two lopsided setbacks, Senate advocates of stricter gun-control laws are trying again to strengthen a bill to take from the marketplace small, cheap handguns called "Saturday night specials."

Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., said he would offer an amendment today to require registration of all handguns and the licensing of owners, but its chances of adoption seemed slim.

A bill the Senate started debating Monday would ban the sale of snub-nosed, easily concealed handguns not suitable for sporting purposes.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., the bill's chief sponsor, said it would take out of the marketplace the weapons most commonly used by criminals.

The Senate rejected 84 to 7 a substitute proposal by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to outlaw private possession of all kinds of handguns. Owners who turned in their pistols or revolvers would be compensated at fair-market value by the government.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A go-slow warning to the Soviets has been toned down and endorsed by the White House in an effort to appease senators on both sides of the U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation agreement.

No Fault Auto Insurance Gains New Support

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Legal experts from the 50 states have tentatively agreed to push for adoption back home of a strong "no-fault" auto insurance program.

The proposed law that won all but final approval by a 32-14 vote at their conference here Monday would guarantee payment to all auto accident victims of all "reasonable" medical expenses, whoever may have been at fault.

Ten states have legislated various versions of "no-fault" auto insurance, but the proposed bill that is coming out of a week-long session of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws would be even more comprehensive than the Massachusetts and Florida laws, the toughest in the nation.

"The idea is to make sure people are compensated," said Lindsey Cowen, dean of the University of Georgia Law School and chairman of the committee that drafted the model law.

The annual conference has brought together commissioners from every state to complete the drafting of bills for adoption by their legislatures.

The auto proposal was fought over for four days before it was given tentative approval. The drive here for a "no-fault" law parallels one in the U.S. Senate this week, and Washington proponents sent aides here to coordinate the two moves.

There would be no top on the amount an auto victim could recover from his insurance company, while none of the 10 states with some form of "no-fault" coverage provides more than $10,000.

Trial lawyers generally are opposed to swinging away from the present system of using the courts to settle accident claims. (Continued on Page 2)

The auto proposal was fought over for four days before it was given tentative approval. The drive here for a "no-fault" law parallels one in the U.S. Senate this week, and Washington proponents sent aides here to coordinate the two moves.

There would be no top on the amount an auto victim could recover from his insurance company, while none of the 10 states with some form of "no-fault" coverage provides more than $10,000.

Trial lawyers generally are opposed to swinging away from the present system of using the courts to settle accident claims.

The big insurance firms are divided, with some supporting "no-fault" and others opposed. Government estimates are that only 40 cents of every $1 in auto insurance premiums are returned to accident victims.

There would be no suits except to recover for damage to property other than automobiles, for "pain and suffering," and injury causing more than six months of total disability (Continued on Page 2)

Link Brown Receives First Reward Check

"This is the first one under the property protection services," C. William Swank, Ohio Farm Bureau executive vice president, said in presenting a $500 check to James Link Brown, Route 1, Ashville, Tuesday morning.

"The new program, Reward, provides a $500 reward which is paid to anyone giving information that leads to the arrest and conviction for various crimes including arson, malicious injury to property, burglary or other felonies committed on Farm Bureau member's property," according to Swank during the presentation ceremonies at the Pickaway County Farm Bureau office.

The program was implemented in March by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation to combat crime in rural areas of Ohio and is in effect for Farm Bureau members in all 88 counties.

On March 25, Brown observed a car at the Lowell White residence, Route 1, Ashville. Seeing two men run from the house, and get into a car, he pursued them as they drove away, obtained the license number and reported the information to Pickaway County Sherriff Dwight E. Radcliff. One of the suspects, Daniel R. Broughton, was convicted of breaking and entering on June 7 in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. The reward was not reported until today to give county and state Farm Bureau personnel time to review the reward claim.

Pickaway County Farm Bureau President Mrs. Valarie Wilson, Route 1, and Gerald R. Wolford, Route 1, Stoutsville, county "Reward" committee chairman and Sherriff Radcliff were also present at today's meeting. Other members of the "Reward" committee are Donald K. Bower, Route 1, Circleville, and Carl Schein, Route 2, Circleville.

U.S. bombers were supporting the Cambodians, and the U.S. Command claimed they knocked out 14 tanks Sunday and Monday. The Cambodian command said its air and ground forces destroyed another seven.

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 bombers made heavy strikes in the southern part of North Vietnam, aimed primarily at fuel supplies for the Quang Tri and Hue battlefields.

Thirty of the Stratofortresses carried out the raids around the port of Dong Hoi, 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone, saturating a wide area with more than 700 tons of bombs.

Another 20 B52s struck at North Vietnamese troop concentrations menacing the western flanks of Hue. These strikes were concentrated around Fire Base Bastogne and an outpost called Checkmate, 12 miles southwest of Hue, where there have been increasing North Vietnamese shellfire and infantry assaults.

North Vietnamese gunners continued to pour hundreds of artillery rounds into South Vietnamese positions on the northern front.

Sharp fighting also was reported in the Qe Son Valley, 25 miles south of Da Nang. The Saigon said 30 North Vietnamese troops were killed, while government losses were two killed and 15 wounded.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Earnest Thomas, 69, of Rt. 1, Wheelersburg, was killed about 11 p.m. Monday when he was struck by a car while walking along Ohio 139 in Rubyville in Scioto County.

Stroms and thundershowers washed much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today. The Southeast was warm and the Southwest remained hot and dry.

The rains came, some locally heavy, from the central Plains to New England and from the lower Great Lakes to South Carolina.

A flash-flood watch was in effect late Monday in the mountains and foothills of South Carolina.

Severe thunderstorm warnings were posted in parts of South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Arkansas. Power failures and uprooted trees resulted from heavy rains and high winds in South Dakota.

Winds uprooted trees and damaged barns in a 300-yard-wide path near York, Pa. And widely scattered thundershowers rumbled from western Texas to California and over the northern and central Rockies.

Unseasonably cool temperatures chilled much of the Midwest.

Fear Thrust From Cambodia Also Possible

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces slashed into South Vietnamese militiamen 17 miles east of Saigon today near a highway leading to the resort town of Vung Tau.

Reports reaching Saigon at dusk said 50-60 South Vietnamese troops were killed and an equal number wounded.

There was no count on enemy losses.

By nightfall, the fighting had tapered off to sporadic contact, field reports said.

Meanwhile, Communist-led forces backed by tanks were reported to have threatened three towns in eastern Cambodia, raising fears of new thrusts across the border into the Mekong Delta and provinces north and west of Saigon.

Messages from Kompong Trabek, on the Saigon Phnom Penh highway 85 miles west of the South Vietnamese capital, indicated the Cambodians were still fighting there on the west bank of the Prek Trabek River but had abandoned that part of the city lying on the east bank.

Sources in Phnom Penh said North Vietnamese tanks were sighted east of Kompong Trabek advancing toward the besieged provincial capital of Svay Rieng, 20 miles to the east and about five miles from the Vietnamese border.

Another column of North Vietnamese infantrymen and tanks was reported heading toward Prey Veng, a provincial capital 25 miles northwest of Kompong Trabek.

and for being out of work longer than six months.

All other legislated plans open the courtroom door when medical bills go beyond $1,000, and some of 10 states permit suits for even less. But the proposed law receiving clearance here would guarantee compensation from the insurance company for all medical bills — while barring suits for any of them.

Besides Massachusetts and Florida, the states with some form of "no-fault" are Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, Minnesota, Oregon, South Dakota, and Illinois where the law has been declared invalid by state courts.

and for being out of work longer than six months.
All other legislated plans open the courtroom door when medical bills go beyond $1,000, and some of 10 states permit suits for even less. But the proposed law receiving clearance here would guarantee compensation from the insurance company for all medical bills — while barring suits for any of them.
Besides Massachusetts and Florida, the states with some form of "no-fault" are Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, Minnesota, Oregon, South Dakota, and Illinois where the law has been declared invalid by state courts.

Little Boy Getting Better After Bout With Alligator

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Lying in his hospital bed, young David Wayne Abbott says he'll always remember "Fat Jaws," an alligator which grabbed his leg in its toothy mouth as he played in a lake.
"All he can remember are those big jaws closing down on him," said the 6-year-old boy's mother, Mrs. Fred Abbott of Jacksonville. "He won't even use the word alligator. He calls it 'Fat Jaws.'"
And he was happy to hear

Handgun Foes

to 11 an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to require registration of all firearms—rifles and shotguns as well as handguns—and state or federal licensing of all gun owners.

The votes were the first taken by the Senate on gun-control legislation since the attempted assassination on May 15 of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace during his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

It was the wounding of Wallace, a foe of further federal firearm controls, that spurred the Senate Judiciary Committee into reporting out the bill sponsored by Bayh.

Bayh opposed both Hart's substitute measure and Kennedy's registration-licensing proposal. Bayh maintained that it was better to stick with legislation that had a chance and that would mark some progress toward curbing gun violence.
Bayh said his bill would prohibit the sale of handguns of the type used in shooting Wallace and in assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Car-Bike Mishap Injures Youth

A car-bicycle accident 2:35 p.m. Monday on W. High St., at the second alley west of Court St., resulted in minor injury to a nine-year-old Circleville boy.

James J. Frericks, 334 Meadow Lane, suffered a small cut on the back when his bicycle collided with a car driven by Dr. Vernon D. Kerns. He was referred to the doctor for treatment.

According to the report of Ptl. Mike Eberhard, the boy rode his bicycle out of the alley and struck the right front door of the Kerns' auto which was eastbound on High St.

THE Lancaster truck driver said a car, approaching him, had turned into the Walnut Twp. school and was backing into the left lane, apparently distracting his attention.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said charges of failing to yield the right of way at a stop sign and second degree vehicular homicide are expected to be filed against Reed.

He was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a minor arm injury.

Two daughters, Patricia and Sherri, were not with the family when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Pennington, 40, was born May 19, 1932, in Circleville. Her father, Russell Radcliff, survives in Whitehall. Her mother, Mrs. Dell Mumaw survives at Route 2, Ashville.

Mrs. Pennington is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Ann Tomlinson, Route 5; one half-sister, Mrs. Sharon Kay Takacs, Valinda, Calif.

MR. Pennington, 39, was born May 18, 1933, in Ross County the son of William and Cynthia Evans Pennington. His father survives at 1550 N. Court St. He is also survived by three brothers, Luther Pennington, 1550 N. Court St., Robert, of Columbus, and Charles of Watt St.; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Jean Cox, Lancaster; Mrs. Marie Evans, Columbus.

John, age 10, was born Feb. 16, 1962, in Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. Pennington were members of the first Baptist Church of Ashville.

Mr. Pennington was a veteran of the Korean War and was assistant manager of Ontario's Store in Columbus.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. today. The family would appreciate memorial contributions to the Gideon Bible Society.

More And More Men Seek Cosmetic Surgery

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

In the eternal quest for beauty and youth, increasing numbers of men are seeking help from the surgeon's scalpel.

Face lifts, nose alterations, hair transplants and other types of plastic surgery for men have doubled in the last five years.

"While it's still more common to see women asking for cosmetic surgery, men now comprise about 15 to 20 percent of our patients," says Dr. Eugene Courtiss, secretary of the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery.

Surgeons in New York, Miami, and Los Angeles attribute this increase to the continued emphasis on youth and youthful appearance, the competition among men for jobs—and for women—and the growing acceptance of plastic surgery as a cosmetic aid.

"Any man who wants to look better and younger, who cares about self-improvement and can afford the luxury, is considering plastic surgery as he never would have a few years ago," says Dr. John Williams, a plastic surgeon from Century City, Calif.

What Phyllis Diller did for women thinking about a face lift, Sen. William Proxmire no doubt accomplished for men worrying about their baldness. When Proxmire showed up in the Senate one day with a turban of bandages, he candidly admitted he was beginning hair transplants. Bobby Hull, the hockey player, is another prominent figure who brought the subject of hair transplants out in the open.

A study made by a team of psychiatrists and plastic surgeons at Johns Hopkins University in 1960 indicated that men asking for cosmetic surgery showed more psychopathology and emotional problems than did women seeking similar operations. But several plastic surgeons feel the situation is different today.

"A few years ago, only effeminate men thought to have very narcissistic needs came in for face lifts. Most of our male patients were artists and models. But now, normal, business executive types are asking for the operation," says Dr. Dicran Goulian, director of plastic surgery at New York Hospital.

Nevertheless, plastic surgeons are careful to determine what motivates a man for such surgery. An operation is often refused if the man has unrealistic expectations of surgical results. A face lift, they caution, cannot save a marriage, or get a promotion, or assure romantic success with young women.

"The man cannot be dependent on the postoperative self," says Dr. Thomas Baker of Miami. "A face lift is not like some magic wand that will make a man step back in time and be 25 instead of 50."

Surgeons say a face lift is more complicated for men than for women. It works best on men with longer hair to hide the scars.

The operation can last about two hours and costs about $5,000. Prices for all types of cosmetic surgery are generally lower on the West Coast. Depending on the man's age, a good face lift can last about 7 to 10 years.

The most common operation men ask for today is the removal of baggy eyelids and crow's feet. This costs about $750.

Body contour operations which are complicated and often leave extensive scars are relatively rare for men, though some men have asked to have droopy buttocks lifted, or fatty deposits in hips and breasts removed.

Hair transplants are gaining in popularity but are only successful on men with an adequate supply of their own hair—at least in the back. Small plugs of about 15 growing hairs from the man's head are implanted in the bald areas. To cover a two-inch receding hairline might take six treatments of one hour each and would cost from $1,500 to $2,500. Final results are obtained only after about 18 months when the hair is fully grown out.

Some plastic surgeons are skeptical about the results. "A hair transplant looks exactly like what it is...like potted plants on a veranda," says Williams. "It's difficult to recreate the natural hairline. I think a man is much better off wearing a hairpiece."

Bill, who asked that his real name not be used, is 44, father of four, and an office manager. All his life he had been self-conscious about the bags under his eyes.

A year ago, he had them removed surgically.

"I guess I don't look that much different," he says now. "It hasn't changed me or made me more handsome. But it did remove a feature that I was very unhappy with and that's all that mattered."

Garbage Pipeline May Solve Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — The days of bickering over whose turn it is to take out the garbage may soon be over.

A pneumatic pipeline system developed in Sweden to carry refuse from housing complexes to central waste processing facilities is being used effectively in several countries reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

Such systems are being installed in the U.S. at Disney World in Florida and in an apartment development in New Jersey, the institute says. The systems operate on the same principle as the pneumatic tubes sometimes used in banks and department stores.

The institute says that such system will facilitate the economic of recycling by cutting down on the high cost of collecting garbage by traditional methods.

More And More Men Seek Cosmetic Surgery

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

In the eternal quest for beauty and youth, increasing numbers of men are seeking help from the surgeon's scalpel.

Face lifts, nose alterations, hair transplants and other types of plastic surgery for men have doubled in the last five years.

"While it's still more common to see women asking for cosmetic surgery, men now comprise about 15 to 20 per cent of our patients," says Dr. Eugene Courtiss, secretary of the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery.

Surgeons in New York, Miami, and Los Angeles attribute this increase to the continued emphasis on youth and youthful appearance, the competition among men for jobs—and for women—and the growing acceptance of plastic surgery as a cosmetic aid.

"Any man who wants to look better and younger, who cares about self-improvement and can afford the luxury, is considering plastic surgery as he never would have a few years ago," says Dr. John Williams, a plastic surgeon from Century City, Calif.

What Phyllis Diller did for women thinking about a face lift, Sen. William Proxmire no doubt accomplished for men worrying about their baldness. When Proxmire showed up in the Senate one day with a turban of bandages, he candidly admitted he was beginning hair transplants. Bobby Hull, the hockey player, is another prominent figure who brought the subject of hair transplants out in the open.

A study made by a team of psychiatrists and plastic surgeons at Johns Hopkins University in 1960 indicated that men asking for cosmetic surgery showed more psychopathology and emotional problems than did women seeking similar operations. But several plastic surgeons feel the situation is different today.

"A few years ago, only effeminate men thought to have very narcissistic needs came in for face lifts. Most of our male patients were artists and models. But now, normal, business executive types are asking for the operation," says Dr. Dicran Goulian, director of plastic surgery at New York Hospital.

Nevertheless, plastic surgeons are careful to determine what motivates a man for such surgery. An operation is often refused if the man has unrealistic expectations of surgical results. A face lift, they caution, cannot save a marriage, or get a promotion, or assure romantic success with young women.

"The man cannot be too dependent on the postoperative self," says Dr. Thomas Baker of Miami. "A face lift is not like some magic wand that will make a man step back in time and be 25 instead of 50."

Surgeons say a face lift is more complicated for men than for women. It works best on men with longer hair to hide the scars.

The operation can last about two hours and costs about $5,000. Prices for all types of cosmetic surgery are generally lower on the West Coast. Depending on the man's age, a good face lift can last about 7 to 10 years.

The most common operation men ask for today is the removal of baggy eyelids and crow's feet. This costs about $750.

Body contour operations which are complicated and often leave extensive scars are relatively rare for men, though some men have asked to have drooping buttocks lifted, or fatty deposits in hips and breasts removed.

Hair transplants are gaining in popularity but are only successful on men with an adequate supply of their own hair—at least in the back. Small plugs of about 15 growing hairs from the man's head are implanted in the bald areas. To cover a two-inch receding hairline might take six treatments of one hour each and would cost from $1,500 to $2,500. Final results are obtained only after about 18 months when the hair is fully grown out.

Some plastic surgeons are skeptical about the results. "A hair transplant looks exactly like what it is...like potted plants on a veranda," says Williams. "It's difficult to recreate the natural hairline. I think a man is much better off wearing a hairpiece."

Bill, who asked that his real name not be used, is 44, father of four, and an office manager. All his life he had been self-conscious about the bags under his eyes.

A year ago, he had them removed surgically.

"I guess I don't look that much different," he says now. "It hasn't changed me or made me more handsome. But it did remove a feature that I was very unhappy with and that's all that mattered."

Garbage Pipeline May Solve Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — The days of bickering over whose turn it is to take out the garbage may soon be over.

A pneumatic pipeline system developed in Sweden to carry refuse from housing complexes to central waste processing facilities is being used effectively in several countries reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

Such systems are being installed in the U.S. at Disney World in Florida and in an apartment development in New Jersey, the institute says. The systems operate on the same principle as the pneumatic tubes sometimes used in banks and department stores.

The institute says that such system will facilitate the economic of recycling by cutting down on the high cost of collecting garbage by traditional methods.

Wrong Emphasis

That the American penal and-or judicial systems have failed to solve the crime problem is obvious from the statistics. It isn't entirely the fault of these fields of law enforcement and punishment that crime rates continue to rise, but they are most directly responsible for the high number of repeaters.

Recidivism is the disease traditional penal systems have failed to control. There is instead a good case for the argument that the system of incarceration employed by a majority of the prisons is largely responsible for creating the habitual criminal.

The facts supersede any arguments over whether changes ought to be introduced. The only questions are what and how. In a sense, change already is appearing in the penal system.

It is coming in the form of retirements of some of the older prisons, the preference for non-institutionalized correctional programs, more effective probation and parole systems and a host of other changes originating at the state level.

While many of the states are turning away from institutionalized care, the federal government is embarking on an ambitious 10-year program of building more than 60 new correctional facilities at a cost of $650 million.

Many would question the wisdom of investing that kind of money in a penal tradition which has failed. New methods are needed more urgently.

Quiet Camping

One of the strong inducements which has made camping a popular pastime is the chance to get away from the noise and bustle of conventional living. Nothing spoils it more quickly than the thoughtless campers who violate respect for their neighbors, if not the law, by scurrying over hill and campsite at any time of day or night on motorcycles and other motorized conveyances.

Many private campsites prohibit or regulate the use of such vehicles. More public parks are doing likewise. New Mexico has adopted rules for motorcycles, dune buggies and other "land recreational vehicles" which limit them to improved roads in all state parks. They are banned at night and must be properly muffled.

Such regulations would be unnecessary except for those who abuse the rights of others. Vehicles of all types can add to enjoyment of the outdoors, but not when they become a nuisance to others.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on renewed buying activity, the growth of credit and a drop in the savings rate, Americans are somewhat more certain of the future than they were a year ago.

One of the factors involved in their outlook is the progress being made in arresting inflation. It is now down to about 3.5 per cent on an annual basis. It had been close to 6 per cent in 1971.

Three and one-half per cent is considered a "moderate" rate these days, but only because of the "galloping" inflation—5 per cent or more—that went before. It could be misleading.

Just a decade ago the nation

settled on one to two per cent as an "acceptable" rate. It was called "creeping" inflation, and it was tolerated only because nobody could figure out how to get it lower.

The erosion formula is easy enough for anyone to work out. To determine the number of years required to cut purchasing power in half you divide the inflation rate into 72. The answer is disconcerting—but valuable.

It appears that the conservative financial practices of millions of Americans—the safe way, as they describe it—could be extremely wasteful, costly and disillusioning.

An insurance policy, the premiums for which are paid in current dollars, pays off in current dollars too. But premium payments are made in today's money while face value is returned in tomorrow's cheaper money.

Savings accounts that pay 5 per cent a year are actually earning only 1.5 per cent—less after taxes—at the present inflation rate. And U.S. Savings Bonds, which pay 5.5, in reality yield only 2 per cent.

Curiously, when inflation accelerated, the rate of savings rose also. Savings Bonds experienced a reversal of fortune: they had been paying out more than they sold but, with the help of a rate raise, this was changed.

Sales of life insurance policies also continued to grow, although it is significant that the greater growth was not in sales of individual but in group policies, which usually are the least expensive policies available.

One conclusion that may be tentatively drawn from this behavior is that some consumers today are still unaware of the erosive power of inflation.

But one indication that people are more aware than may be apparent of about how to deal with inflation is their growing interest in equities—in share ownership and in real estate.

In more ways than he probably realizes, a man's home is his castle.

Nuns To Attend Cincy Meeting

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 1,000 nuns from across the nation will attend the first Congress of the Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati here Aug. 11-16.

The congress will be held at the College of Mount St. Joseph on the Ohio and will deal with the sisters' present and future role in the Roman Catholic church, society and the world.

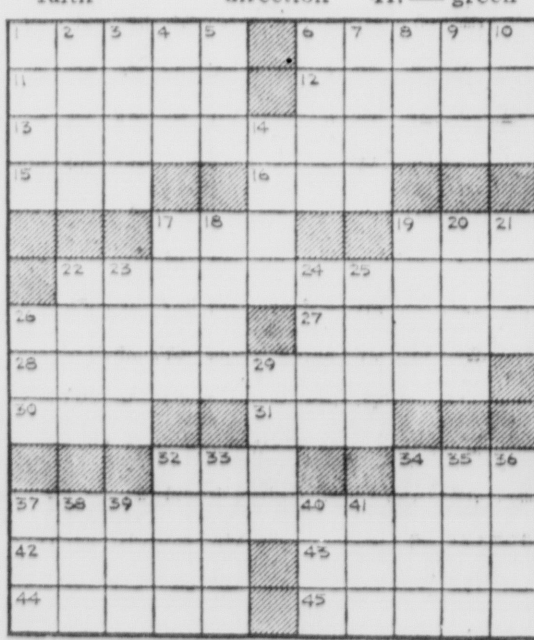

George B. Cardinal Flahiff, archbishop of Winnipeg, Canada, will deliver the keynote address entitled, "World Challenge to Religions Today."

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

WEDNESDAY'S FORECAST
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you have considerable vitality. You are able to see conditions in their most comprehensive light and can make real progress toward attaining your most cherished objectives. Avoid being too forceful or demanding even though you may be tempted.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)
It's all right to have a good time but don't force others to go along with you. They may have more important things to do. Give others a compliment when merited. Pay your bills.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)
You can accomplish a great deal today at home, but do nothing that will irritate anyone there. An unkind word could touch off a big argument. Make improvements to the property you own.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)
Engage in outside activities early and accomplish much whether of a business, cultural or artistic nature. A good time to engage in your favorite hobby. Show more devotion to family.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
You are thinking sensibly and can do much to add to your present abundance. Discuss your best ideas with experts so that you remove any doubts you may have. Relax tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)
You can make your presence felt now where it counts the most, since the planets are most favorable. Contact valuable allies early and discuss the subjects that are closest to your heart.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)
You have private aims that require more study now if you are to make a success of them. Reach right decisions early. Once arrangements are made for the future, go out for entertainment.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)
Ideal day to get together with friends you truly admire and who can help make your life happier. Stop closeting yourself in the home so much. Engage in group activities that please.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)
Show loyalty and admiration to superiors and public leaders. Forget a tendency to poke fun at them. Make sure you carry through with civic matters instead of running away from them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)
Ideal day to visit bigwigs who can help you advance in your line of endeavor. Anything of a scientific or educational nature is fine. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Find a better method of handling those responsibilities ahead of you. Show others that you are a conscientious person. Try not to be forceful with the one you love. Relax tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Try not to act in such an uncontrollable way that you lose the support of a bigwig. Show that you are a reasonable person and add to prestige you now enjoy. Be poised.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
You have so much work ahead of you that you may neglect order and neatness around you, so give more attention to this and you can labor more efficiently. Get wardrobe fixed to suit your style.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those dynamic young people who has to be taught early to be careful and not act in an imperious fashion. There is much ability at organizing here and the education should be directed along such lines so that your progeny can be of greatest assistance to the multitudes. Give good ethical training early and teach love of family.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I walked by a supermarket as I left my hospital yesterday. A large-sized dog, of a breed known to be easily trained for protection, was tied to a pole and straining at its leash.

I made a mental note to write a column one day about this hazard in our streets. Just as I was thinking this, in a sudden flash, a child's arm was caught in the trap-like vise of this frightened dog. By some sheer miracle he released the grip before he could seriously injure and perhaps permanently maim this small child.

It might have taken two seconds before this curious little boy left his mother's hands and rushed to pet the dog. It is almost impossible to protect against such a flash experience. Yet there are two factors that deserve intensive precautionary measures if the thousands of animal bites each year are to be reduced. The first is that no dog should be tied on a public thoroughfare while its owner is even momentarily away from him. The leashed dog has a right to feel abandoned, frightened, and without his normal ability to flee from possible danger. He feels trapped, and must defend himself against any gesture by a child or adult that he interprets as a possible threat.

The second factor to be considered is that everyone, especially children, must be taught the proper way to approach an animal. It is almost beyond belief that nearly 1,000,000 people in America are bitten each year by animals, mostly dogs, and many of them household pets. It is estimated that three quarters of these bites occur in children. An untold number of animal bites have caused permanent disability, loss of sight, and facial disfigurement.

Children must be taught the fundamental rules of safety with animals with the same structured intensity that they are taught to avoid other dangers such as crossing streets against a traffic light. 1) DON'T approach a strange dog that is tied or tethered.

2) Don't disturb a dog who is eating or chewing on a bone. It invites trouble.

3) DON'T pet a strange dog unless you have asked the owner if he is friendly.

4) DON'T suddenly wake a dog that is sleeping. Make him aware of the fact that you are coming toward him by speaking. Many dogs are frightened by this and become bad-tempered.

5) Large dogs should be led only by people who are strong enough to control them.

6) Teach your child to say "hello" to a dog by extending his hand and letting the dog come to him. When the dog moves to the child and sniffs his extended hand he is more receptive to being petted. At the same time the child should talk gently to the dog and not make any sudden quick motions.

7) Older children riding bicycles are often chased by friendly dogs. The combination of a dog, a bicycle, and an automobile can be dangerous.

Naturally, the White House has no wish to make political capital out of the Eagleton fiasco. The truth of the matter is that the whole affair is but one more example of what has become recognizable as the McGovern style in politics. The hallmark of that style is an incredible carelessness about detail, and amateurish reluctance to do the necessary homework, a blythe lack of seriousness that we have seen in his numerous policy recommendations and that now confronts us in his approach to the selection of Sen. Eagleton.

The plain fact is that Sen. McGovern did not know much about Eagleton's background, and made no serious attempt to look into it.

Informants of mine in the Senate now tell me that they are not surprised at the medical history that has been revealed. They considered Eagleton a likeable colleague, but also terribly intense, as well as tense.

McGovern's own staff is now saying that it was too preoccupied by the California delegate challenge to bother checking up on the leading Vice Presidential possibilities. No professional can credit that excuse. At most there were half a dozen leading possibilities, and, for better or worse, Teddy Kennedy's background is familiar enough. One or two experienced staff members could easily have done the necessary checking in the course of a week. The McGovern team just didn't bother.

The fact that Eagleton concealed his medical history from McGovern is bad enough. But what the whole thing confirms about McGovern's approach to decision-making is positively chilling.

To be sure, it is of a piece with previous examples. McGovern first put forward a vast $1,000-per-person welfare scheme, apparently without any idea of what it would cost or how it would be a bid for his aides and sympathizers then began to make various stabs at explaining the whole thing. McGovern himself allowed as how the scheme might raise taxes a little, or, perhaps, on second thought, not at all. And now his chief economic adviser, Yale Professor James Tobin, admits what has been evident all along: that the scheme would involve a really huge jump in Federal income taxes. Where his policy proposals are concerned, McGovern does not exactly run a tight ship.

The same kind of thing shows up in his defense proposals. The authoritative British survey of the world's navies, Jane's Fighting Ships, now rates the Soviet navy superior to our own. McGovern's answer there is to scrap nine of our 13 aircraft carriers, among other things.

His feathery approach to the U.S. military posture has produced alarm in every foreign capital allied to the U.S.

One has the feeling that McGovern is so impressed by his own virtuosity that he does not take anything else very seriously. His policies and his decisions will be correct, you gather, because they have been put forth by so virtuous a fellow.

Wilbur Mills, it is reliably reported, has gazed upon McGovern and pronounced him a lightweight. The more we see of him the more likely it appears that they will have to tie rocks to his feet to keep him from blowing away.

Late Tuesday, in an unusual move, the House refused to send the Senate amended bill changing the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 to conference. This marked the first use of a 1964 House rule which provides that a bill found unsatisfactory to the House can be refused on the question of referring to a House-Senate Conference. The strategy is to require the Senate to act first so the House can act on Senate amendments. The controversy has centered around the minimum wage increase. The Senate amendment would raise the minimum wage to $2.20 within two years; and for agricultural workers, $2.20 within three years. The House version would raise the minimum wage to $2.00 and $1.80 respectively.

The House considered and passed the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972. The coast of the United States, together with the immediately adjacent land and water areas is one of the Nation's most valuable geographic assets. At the same time, it is probably the area most threatened with deterioration and irreparable damage. The coast and coastal waters have played a major role in the Nation's development, growth, and defense since its earliest days. In recent years, the coastal area has been undergoing drastic changes which, unless checked, will result in irreversible damage to many of the area's features.

The prime purpose of this legislation is to encourage the various coastal states to exercise their full authority over usage of the lands and waters in the coastal zone. The Federal Government will cooperate with local governments and other vitally affected interests in developing a unified policy for land and water use programs along coastal areas.

We received some mail in support of a bill establishing the "National Advisory Commission on Multiple Sclerosis." The bill directs the Commission to emphasize in its study the need for further financial support and other means by which the Federal Government can best participate in this effort. The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare will appoint the nine members of the Commission, five to be chosen from members of the Advisory Council to the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke, and four to be chosen from qualified members of the general public. This bill now goes to the Senate.

Late in the week the House considered a bill to establish by law a Council on International Economic Policy and to extend the Export Administration Act of 1969. Title I of this bill provides a statutory mechanism to coordinate the functions and policies of the many varied departments and agencies of the Federal Government that engage in making and implementing the international economic policy of the United States. Title II would extend the President's authority to control exports, under the Export Administration Act of 1962, to June 30, 1974. I would be the first to agree there is a need to give the Administration statutory authority to control exports in the light of national security, foreign policy, and domestic economic considerations, but the provisions of the Export Administration Act are quite adequate to accomplish these ends.

I voted against reporting this bill because I believe that it is time to call a halt to the continued addition of advisory programs that add a million dollars here and a couple of million dollars there to federal expenditures.

There may be a need for the Council, and that is why it was established. It has been functioning for a year and a half funded out of monies already available to the Executive branch for such purposes. Why not let the Council continue functioning at the pleasure of the President?

Cooley's anemia is a hereditary disease of the blood found generally in persons of Mediterranean origin. The disease is the most common of a group of genetic blood disorders and is caused by an impairment in the synthesis of hemoglobin, the substance in red blood cells which enables them to carry oxygen to the tissues of the body. The purpose of the National Cooley's Anemia establish a national program for the diagnosis, prevention, and treatment of, and research in, Cooley's anemia together with screening, counseling, and education programs.

In a report this week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported farm exports were $2.0 billion larger than agricultural imports. This favorable balance in the U.S. farm trade came mainly from heavy export shipments of soybeans and soybean meal, cotton, dairy products, cattle hides, meats, fruits, nuts and vegetables. The excess of farm exports over farm imports would likely have been greater had it not been for the crippling longshoremen's strikes at West and East coasts and Gulf ports, principally during the first half of the year; uncertainties in the international monetary situation; and some slowdown in economic growth in major markets during the year.

Wrong Emphasis

That the American penal and-or judicial systems have failed to solve the crime problem is obvious from the statistics. It isn't entirely the fault of these fields of law enforcement and punishment that crime rates continue to rise, but they are most directly responsible for the high number of repeaters.

Recidivism is the disease traditional penal systems have failed to control. There is instead a good case for the argument that the system of incarceration employed by a majority of the prisons is largely responsible for creating the habitual criminal.

The facts supersede any arguments over whether changes ought to be introduced. The only questions are what and how. In a sense, change already is appearing in the penal system.

It is coming in the form of retirements of some of the older prisons, the preference for non-institutionalized correctional programs, more effective probation and parole systems and a host of other changes originating at the state level.

While many of the states are turning away from institutionalized care, the federal government is embarking on an ambitious 10-year program of building more than 60 new correctional facilities at a cost of $650 million.

Many would question the wisdom of investing that kind of money in a penal tradition which has failed. New methods are needed more urgently.

Quiet Camping

One of the strong inducements which has made camping a popular pastime is the chance to get away from the noise and bustle of conventional living. Nothing spoils it more quickly than the thoughtless campers who violate respect for their neighbors, if not the law, by scurrying over hill and campsite at any time of day or night on motorcycles and other motorized conveyances.

Many private campsites prohibit or regulate the use of such vehicles. More public parks are doing likewise. New Mexico has adopted rules for motorcycles, dune buggies and other "land recreational vehicles" which limit them to improved roads in all state parks. They are banned at night and must be properly muffled.

Such regulations would be unnecessary except for those who abuse the rights of others. Vehicles of all types can add to enjoyment of the outdoors, but not when they become a nuisance to others.

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on renewed buying activity, the growth of credit and a drop in the savings rate, Americans are somewhat more certain of the future than they were a year ago.

One of the factors involved in their outlook is the progress being made in arresting inflation. It is now down to about 3.5 per cent on an annual basis. It had been close to 6 per cent in 1971.

Three and one-half per cent is considered a "moderate" rate these days, but only because of the "galloping" inflation—5 per cent or more—that went before. It could be misleading.

Just a decade ago the nation

settled on one to two per cent as an "acceptable" rate. It was called "creeping" inflation, and it was tolerated only because nobody could figure out how to get it lower.

The erosion formula is easy enough for anyone to work out. To determine the number of years required to cut purchasing power in half you divide the inflation rate into 72. The answer is disconcerting—but valuable.

It appears that the conservative financial practices of millions of Americans—the safe way, as they describe it—could be extremely wasteful, costly and disillusioning.

An insurance policy, the premiums for which are paid in current dollars, pays off in current dollars too. But premium payments are made in today's money while face value is returned in tomorrow's cheaper money.

Savings accounts that pay 5 per cent a year are actually earning only 1.5 per cent—less after taxes—at the present inflation rate. And U.S. Savings Bonds, which pay 5.5, in reality yield only 2 per cent.

Curiously, when inflation accelerated, the rate of savings rose also. Savings Bonds experienced a reversal of fortune: they had been paying out more than they sold but, with the help of a rate raise, this was changed.

Sales of life insurance policies also continued to grow, although it is significant that the greater growth was not in sales of individual but in group policies, which usually are the least expensive policies available.

One conclusion that may be tentatively drawn from this behavior is that some consumers today are still unaware of the erosive power of inflation.

But one indication that people are more aware than may be apparent of about how to deal with inflation is their growing interest in equities—in share ownership and in real estate.

In more ways than he probably realizes, a man's home is his castle.

Nuns To Attend Cincy Meeting

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 1,000 nuns from across the nation will attend the first Congress of the Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati here Aug. 11-16.

The congress will be held at the College of Mount St. Joseph on the Ohio and will deal with the sisters' present and future role in the Roman Catholic church, society and the world.

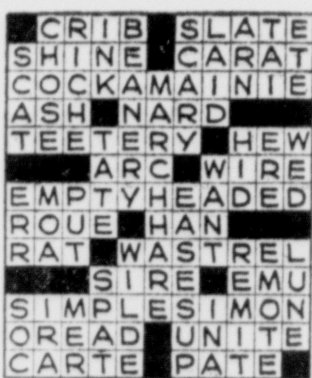

George B. Cardinal Flahiff, archbishop of Winnipeg, Canada, will deliver the keynote address entitled, "World Challenge to Religions Today."

Dear Old Man Really Dirty Old Man

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old married woman and have been told that I am reasonably attractive. I've always been able to handle men who have come on too strong, but now I am stumped!

Would you believe that an 85-year-old man has been bugging me? He is well respected in this community, and always greets the women at church with a hug and kiss. I thought nothing of it as he seemed to love people so much.

One day he telephoned me and asked me to come by his house to get some fresh vegetables from his garden. (He lives alone.) I went there, was given the vegetables, then he embraced me and tried to kiss me! I had to struggle hard to get away from him. He's surprisingly strong for his age. I left as tactfully and quickly as I could, but that really shook me up. I almost told him off, then I considered that a man of 85 might not be as mentally responsible as a younger man, and I didn't want to hurt his feelings.

He keeps calling me to come back for more vegetables, and I am running out of excuses. He calls so often I hate to answer the phone.

Should I keep making up excuses for not going back? Or should I tell him the truth and ask him not to call me anymore? I don't know how to get out of this situation. Everybody thinks he is such a dear old man, but to me, he's just a dirty old man.

DEAR STUMPED: He could be a "sick" old man. Don't be cruel, but do put an end to his calling by telling him firmly, but tactfully that you have decided not to return to his home without your husband. He'll get the idea.

DEAR ABBY: This man (I will call him Mr. Jones) runs a cement contracting business out of his home.

I have telephoned him at least a half dozen times trying to give him some business, but each time I call, a child answers the phone, says, "Daddy isn't home," and hangs up.

I have no telephone in my home so I must make these calls at a pay station which costs me a dime every time I call. Do you think a man should allow his business phone to be answered by a child who can't take a message? And have you any suggestions for how to reach Mr. Jones?

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You could write him a letter. But unless you have a concrete reason for wanting to give Mr. Jones your business, why don't you try someone else?

DEAR ABBY: I have worked in the same office for 18 years and there are many fine people here, but here is the problem...

Whenever somebody dies, gets married, has a baby or retires, I am the one who has the "privilege" of collecting for flowers or gifts from the office gang.

Underwater Living Is Being Studied

DALLAS (AP) — Can the underwater continental shelf be made habitable by man?

A University of Texas at Dallas scientist is currently making three dives a day in a "Deep Diver" submarine to probe this possibility.

Assistant Prof. James B. Urban is serving as chief scientist in the mission at East and West Flower Gardens Coral reef on the continental shelf in the Gulf of Mexico 110 miles south-southeast of Galveston.

Urban is one of a four-man crew on the mission to select possible sites for an open ocean campus and the United States' first continental shelf laboratory.

Mass Wedding United 75 Couples

By LYNNE OLSON
Associated Press Writer

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — As a 15-piece band belted out rock music and wedding waltzes, 75 young couples, many of them former drug addicts, tied the knot at a mass wedding ceremony.

The marriage festival was staged Sunday at the Synanon ranch in the golden hills of Northern California. The ceremony took place at a riding ring.

The brides and grooms were residents of Synanon centers throughout California, as were most of their 2,000 guests.

Synanon Foundation Inc., most widely known for its efforts to rehabilitate drug addicts, has set up seven living groups in California and Michigan.

Though most Synanon residents are former addicts and alcoholics, some have joined the groups because they wanted to take part in the communal life style.

All the couples had been legally married in the past year, but none had a wedding ceremony. They said they waited until it could be performed before the Synanon community.

"These kids shared their hell with the community when they were going off drugs," said one Synanon resident. "Now they want to share their happiness."

The wedding festival had a 19th-century nostalgic touch. The brides wore picture hats and long, old-fashioned summer gowns of muslin, linen and chintz. Some twirled parasols.

The grooms, sporting new grown beards, wore starched denim overalls and dress shirts, with carnations in their buttonholes.

The guests, also attired in 1800s dress, watched from bleachers as the wedding began with a flourish of trumpets.

Eleven horsemen galloped down from a nearby hill and paraded around the oval ring.

A 100-voice choir, made up of young addicts recently arrived at Synanon to kick their habit, sang "Shenandoah."

Then came the wedding march.

Arm in arm, the couples strolled around the ring, smiling and waving at cheering friends and family.

The frivolity ended when the Rev. C. Mason Harvey, in top hat and tails, mounted a podium and started the ceremony.

"Marriage means 'to be joined with.' We also join with you," he said. "We say to you

UAW Official Likes Shriver

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Selection of R. Sargent Shriver as Democratic vice presidential candidate strengthened the party's ticket, a United Auto Workers spokesman says.

Irving Bluestone of Detroit, UAW international vice president, praised Shriver as an expert administrator who proved his abilities as head of the Peace Corps.

Bluestone also said Shriver's connection with the John F. Kennedy administration would help the America public forget the early days of confusion surrounding Sen. Thomas Eagleton's departure from the ticket.

Bluestone spoke at the opening session of the annual Region 2 summer school on the Ashland College campus. Members of Region 2 locals will be on campus this week to discuss union affairs.

The head of the UAW General Motors Department also urged the 10 members present to carry support for Democrat-that we care for you, we love you."

The couples formed three circles and danced a minuet and the ceremony was over — almost. The guests took their turn.

They jumped off the bleachers and gathered in the middle of the ring, swaying in unison to the throbbing of hard rock music.

The couples and their guests stood in line for the wedding feast, which included 600 pounds of beef, three lambs and a pig.

There was wedding cake, ice cream and nonalcoholic drinks.

Black Lung Disease Claims Rise

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — "You load 16 tons and what do you get?... Another day older and deeper in debt."

Those are words of an old mining song which "spoke of the condition" of thousands of former coal miners throughout the eastern part of the country. The song recalls 12 to 14 hour days underground, breathing fine, black dust, turning miners into sickly, wheezing invalids. The dirty dust filled the air sacs in the lungs, hardening them and impeding oxygen intake. The men had pneumoconiosis—"black lung." Now miners suffering black lung get new, liberalized benefits under a law signed by President Nixon in May. The Social Security administration estimated that 20,000 claims would be made immediately after the new law took effect in Ohio.

Gene Pablo, a senior staff officer at the Social Security office in Chicago, said near the end of July claims were below estimates, but increasing.

Pablo said last month more than 10,000 claims were outstanding. Almost 90 per cent were previously denied cases being reviewed under the new law. Only about ten percent were new claims.

He said many of the old claims involved miners who "filed claims despite the fact they were not underground coal miners covered under the old act." These claims are being reconsidered.

The daughter of an Ohio miner said the basic benefits of $161.50 a month "is not a bit more than they deserve." A maximum $322.90 can be paid to a family, depending on the number of eligible dependents.

"We cannot imagine what these men went through to make a living," the miner's daughter said.

"I'd say it started right away... the respiratory trouble," a Hamilton miner's widow said. Her husband began coughing when he went to work in the Eastern Kentucky coal mines in the 20's, she said.

A fatal heart attack a year later silenced his cough brought on by "black lung," a doctor said.

No Fault Divorce Law Being Pushed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County Domestic Relations Judge George S. Heitzler said he will push for a no fault divorce law in the Ohio Legislature again this next session.

The jurist, who noted similar laws already in force in Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan, said the proposed law "would take the bitterness out of divorce."

He predicted the change would come in Ohio within the next two years because the sentiment for it is growing throughout the nation.

"The present grounds for divorce in this state are outmoded and only create additional bitterness when marriages break up," said Heitzler who has granted more than 3,000 divorces.

"One party must be guilty and the other must be innocent of any wrongdoing," he added. "In reality, we know that when a marriage comes apart both parties must share some of the blame."

Under the no fault system, he said, the grounds for divorce are simply irreconcilable differences.

"You don't have to show that one party is completely at fault," Heitzler said, "only that certain irreconcilable differences make it impossible as a man and wife."

"Some of the differences still have to be presented in testimony — for example, constant arguing over money. These reasons now are generally used when a person seeks a divorce claiming gross neglect of duty on the part of the other spouse."

NEW YORK (AP) — Millions go into producing television's daily fare, but there are times—ah, yes, those times—when 't would be all for naught if it weren't for the industry's unsung heroes of the panel truck and tool box: repairmen.

Seen from the other end of the screwdriver, theirs is a frustrating, sometimes funny, world. "Like the lady customer we've got," says Herb Levine at Ridge Radio and TV in Greenwich Village, "who's got—and I swear this is true—25 cats. There's another one who's got 15 dogs. No kidding. What does a TV repairman do when there's 15 dogs in the House? Step over them, man she's a paying customer."

Then there are the reasons television sets won't work. "Dead mice inside, sometimes," says Levine, 35, who has been in the business 15 years. "Or cockroaches. They like the warmth and the darkness. And Pepsi Cola. People are always spilling a bottle of Pepsi into their set. Beer? Nope. For some reason, they're more careful with beer."

Some sets won't work because people hide their money inside, says Ruth Rose, who takes trouble calls for her husband Jack at Crest Radio and TV in Washington Heights.

Other times people forget how to turn them on.

"Out of every 20 calls, I'll bet we get two or three because people can't remember how to work the switch," says Mel Ressler, 48, who owns Belin Radio and Television in Yorkville. "The old sets had knobs you'd turn to click them off and on. Now they've got knobs you pull and push. And some people just can't get it."

The customers aren't always wrong.

"I had one guy working for me who fixed this lady's TV," remembers Ressler, "and she called back hysterical. 'I can't turn it off. I can't turn it off.' So I figured maybe the switch wasn't any good. 'Pull out the plug,' I told her. And she called back a few minutes later. Now she was really hysterical. 'Everything is off except for the dial. It's still lit. And I can't get it to go out. I can't get it to go out.' I just couldn't believe this. 'Lady,' I said, 'you just invented perpetual motion.' But I went over. And she took me over to the set. There was this light inside, all right. The boy had left his flashlight in there and left it on with the light shining through the numbers."

U.S. Steel Industry Rides Wave Of Economic Recovery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The U. S. steel industry has been riding with the economic recovery on its way to what should be one of its best shipment years, Industry Week magazine said Monday.

"Now it is ready to rejoin one of its favorite traveling companions, the auto industry, for the rest of the journey," it continued.

"The start of the 1973 model year this month is bringing a rebound in steel deliveries to the auto industry that could make September the biggest month of the year in this regard. . . . As a result of huge steel inventories amassed in last year's first seven months to hedge against a threatened strike, automotive buying of steel ran well below normal from last August until this spring."

Industry Week said that most other steel markets also are either showing strength or rebounding.

"Prospects are good that U. S. consumption of steel will reach 105 million net tons this year compared with 100 million tons last year and 97 million tons in 1970," it added.

With a big autumn in prospect, production of raw steel continues to run well for a summer period, the magazine said.

It estimated last week's domestic production of steel at 2,380,000 net tons compared with 2,356,000 the previous week.

As steelmaking edges higher the demand for steel scrap is firming with prices going up. Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose to $37.67 a gross ton—the highest level since early March, 1971—from $36.33 the previous week.

McGovern And Nixon Gain Labor Union Endorsements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has picked up endorsements for his Democratic bid for the White House from leaders of labor unions with some 6 million workers, while President Nixon has the backing of labor chiefs representing 2.4 million, an Associated Press survey shows.

Leaders of the nation's remaining 10 million union workers and AFL-CIO President George Meany are sitting on the fence for the first time in nearly two decades.

But labor-political experts draw widely differing views on the value of labor's political endorsements when the average worker closes the curtain in the polling booth.

"Anybody who thinks we're monolithic and that our members are going to vote a certain way just because we say so is crazy," said a spokesman for the 900,000-member AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, whose executive board endorsed McGovern.

President Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the 2.1 million-member Teamsters, the nation's largest union, contends labor leaders exert considerable influence on the votes of their members.

"We wouldn't represent more than 2 million workers if we didn't," said Fitzsimmons, whose union has endorsed Nixon.

But, he added, there's no such thing as "delivering" a bloc labor vote.

Regardless of how many union members follow their leaders' political recommendations, the AFL-CIO's decision to endorse neither White House contender is certain to hurt McGovern.

The AFL-CIO's Committee on

Political Education is generally said to be worth some $10 million to a presidential candidate—partly in money, but mostly in the nationwide voluntary manpower of union workers who conduct voter-registration drives and help candidates friendly to labor.

"We figure that out of every 10 union members and their families that we get registered to vote, eight will follow the political endorsements of their union leaders," said an AFL-CIO spokesman.

AFL-CIO and its COPE operation, which have backed every previous Democratic presidential contender since the labor federation was formed in 1955, was generally credited with almost pulling Hubert H. Humphrey through to victory in his 1968 race against Nixon.

Meany predicted that because of the split in labor's ranks over this year's presidential race, only about 20 per cent of the AFL-CIO's 116 unions will endorse either candidate.

So far, 14 AFL-CIO unions with a total of about 4.5 million members and the independent United Auto Workers with 1.5 million members have endorsed McGovern, while three AFL-CIO unions and one independent union have joined the independent Teamsters in backing Nixon.

One-Upmanship In Yachting Won By 'S.S. Crab Grass'

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The good ship Crab Grass and the S.S. Nail Polish stared each other down all last week across the bottle blue of the Monaco boat basin.

The Nail Polish broke first for open water and probably dropped half a point or so in the Mediterranean yachting world's annual prestige stakes.

The Nail Polish is Ultima II, the 27-foot yacht of Revlon Cosmetics president Charles Revson. Its rival is La Belle Simone, owned by William J. Levitt, the mass home builder who enticed thousands of Americans into suburbia.

The only other competitor is Aristotle Onassis' yellow-hulled Christina, but he steers clear of Monte Carlo since he fell out with Prince Rainier. Nothing else currently at sea and privately owned can compete for size and luxury, the very heart of the game.

All through August and September the yachts will score points in the ports where they cross paths, their crews telling stories on their owners and guests.

Along the Monte Carlo quays, La Belle Simone got points for expensive newness and attention to conspicuous detail. Launched this year, it cost between $6 million and $10 million and has Italian marble toilets, even for the 26-man crew. The Levitt yacht also picked up curiosity points with the appearance of the ship's physician as chauffeur of the boss's car. The doctor is a young man who wears a pony-tail, nautical whites and a nameplate reading Dr. Greenberg.

Points were lost for a report that La Belle Simone's officers had to carry guests' suitcases from the pier — there should be a baggage boy — and an after deck flower arrangement of white gladioli that a woman critic on shore said would have looked more at home in a funeral parlor.

Ultima II, looking considerably less modern than La Belle Simone, got clear points only for its size, about 20 feet longer, and the matched pair of five-foot-tall Okinawan sailors standing twin guard in monogrammed white and blue at the foot of the gangplank.

Court Collects $13,657 In July

Circleville Municipal Court collected $13,657.36 in fines, bond forfeitures and costs during the month of July.

The city will receive $6,745.86, the county $5,912.22, and the treasurer of Ohio $2,646.94.

There were 448 criminal cases filed and 417 completed. In 22 cases, $620 in fines and costs were suspended.

There were 15 civil cases filed and seven completed, bringing the city $106.30 in costs.

There were 40 small claims cases filed and 26 completed.

What does a TV repairman do when there's 15 dogs in the house? Step over them, man she's a paying customer."

Then there are the reasons television sets won't work. "Dead mice inside, sometimes," says Levine, 35, who has been in the business 15 years. "Or cockroaches. They like the warmth and the darkness. And Pepsi Cola. People are always spilling a bottle of Pepsi into their set. Beer? Nope. For some reason, they're more careful with beer."

Some sets won't work because people hide their money inside, says Ruth Rose, who takes trouble calls for her husband Jack at Crest Radio and TV in Washington Heights.

Other times people forget how to turn them on.

"Out of every 20 calls, I'll bet we get two or three because people can't remember how to work the switch," says Mel Ressler, 48, who owns Belin Radio and Television in Yorkville. "The old sets had knobs you'd turn to click them off and on. Now they've got knobs you pull and push. And some people just can't get it."

The customers aren't always wrong.

"I had one guy working for me who fixed this lady's TV," remembers Ressler, "and she called back hysterical. 'I can't turn it off, I can't turn it off.' So I figured maybe the switch wasn't any good. 'Pull out the plug,' I told her. And she called back a few minutes later. Now she was really hysterical. 'Everything is off except for the dial. It's still lit. And I can't get it to go out. I can't get it to go out.' I just couldn't believe this. 'Lady,' I said, 'you just invented perpetual motion.' But I went over. And she took me over to the set. There was this light inside, all right. The boy had left his flashlight in there and left it on with the light shining through the numbers."

U.S. Steel Industry Rides Wave Of Economic Recovery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The U. S. steel industry has been riding with the economic recovery on its way to what should be one of its best shipment years, Industry Week magazine said Monday.

"Now it is ready to rejoin one of its favorite traveling companions, the auto industry, for the rest of the journey," it continued.

"The start of the 1973 model year this month is bringing a rebound in steel deliveries to the auto industry that could make September the biggest month of the year in this regard. . . . As a result of huge steel inventories amassed in last year's first seven months to hedge against a threatened tri-, automotive buying of steel ran well below normal from last August until this spring."

Industry Week said that most other steel markets also are either showing strength or rebounding.

"Prospects are good that U. S. consumption of steel will reach 105 million net tons this year compared with 100 million tons last year and 97 million tons in 1970," it added.

With a big autumn in prospect, production of raw steel continues to run well for a summer period, the magazine said.

It estimated last week's domestic production of steel at 2,380,000 net tons compared with 2,356,000 the previous week.

As steelmaking edges higher the demand for steel scrap is firming with prices going up. Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose to $37.67 a gross ton—the highest level since early March, 1971—from $36.33 the previous week.

Apple Dolls

WINNIPEG (AP) — Jean Lambert refuses to eat apples because she says it's "cannibalistic." But the suburban St. Vital housewife has for the last 10 years made them into little dolls. Mrs. Lambert says the apples dry naturally over a period of three to four weeks after being peeled and are formed into faces by gently applying pressure daily over the drying period.

McGovern And Nixon Gain Labor Union Endorsements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has picked up endorsements for his Democratic bid for the White House from leaders of labor unions with some 6 million workers, while President Nixon has the backing of labor chiefs representing 2.4 million, an Associated Press survey shows.

Leaders of the nation's remaining 10 million union workers and AFL-CIO President George Meany are sitting on the fence for the first time in nearly two decades.

But labor-political experts draw widely differing views on the value of labor's political endorsements when the average worker closes the curtain in the polling booth.

"Anybody who thinks we're monolithic and that our members are going to vote a certain way just because we say so is crazy," said a spokesman for the 900,000-member AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, whose executive board endorsed McGovern.

President Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the 2.1 million-member Teamsters, the nation's largest union, contends labor leaders exert considerable influence on the votes of their members.

"We wouldn't represent more than 2 million workers if we didn't," said Fitzsimmons, whose union has endorsed Nixon.

But, he added, there's no such thing as "delivering" a bloc labor vote.

Regardless of how many union members follow their leaders' political recommendations, the AFL-CIO's decision to endorse neither White House contender is certain to hurt McGovern.

The AFL-CIO's Committee on

Political Education is generally said to be worth some $10 million to a presidential candidate—partly in money, but mostly in the nationwide voluntary manpower of union workers who conduct voter-registration drives and help candidates friendly to labor.

"We figure that out of every 10 union members and their families that we get registered to vote, eight will follow the political endorsements of their union leaders," said an AFL-CIO spokesman.

AFL-CIO and its COPE operation, which have backed every previous Democratic presidential contender since the labor federation was formed in 1955, was generally credited with almost pulling Hubert H. Humphrey through to victory in his 1968 race against Nixon.

Meany predicted that because of the split in labor's ranks over this year's presidential race, only about 20 per cent of the AFL-CIO's 116 unions will endorse either candidate.

So far, 14 AFL-CIO unions with a total of about 4.5 million members and the independent United Auto Workers with 1.5 million members have endorsed McGovern, while three AFL-CIO unions and one independent union have joined the independent Teamsters in backing Nixon.

One-Upmanship In Yachting Won By 'S.S. Crab Grass'

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The good ship Crab Grass and the S.S. Nail Polish stared each other down all last week across the bottle blue of the Monaco boat basin.

The Nail Polish broke first for open water and probably dropped half a point or so in the Mediterranean yachting world's annual prestige stakes.

The Nail Polish is Ultima II, the 27-foot yacht of Revlon Cosmetics president Charles Revson. Its rival is La Belle Simone, owned by William J. Levitt, the mass home builder who enticed thousands of Americans into suburbia.

The only other competitor is Aristotle Onassis' yellow-hulled Christina, but he steers clear of Monte Carlo since he fell out with Prince Rainier. Nothing else currently at sea and privately owned can compete for size and luxury, the very heart of the game.

All through August and September the yachts will score points in the ports where they cross paths, their crews telling stories on their owners and guests.

Along the Monte Carlo quays, La Belle Simone got points for expensive newness and attention to conspicuous detail. Launched this year, it cost between $6 million and $10 million and has Italian marble toilets, even for the 26-man crew. The Levitt yacht also picked up curiosity points with the appearance of the ship's physician as chauffeur of the boss's car. The doctor is a young man who wears a pony-tail, nautical whites and a nameplate reading Dr. Greenberg.

Points were lost for a report that La Belle Simone's officers had to carry guests' suitcases from the pier — there should be a baggage boy — and an after deck flower arrangement of white gladiolas that a woman critic on shore said would have looked more at home in a funeral parlor.

Ultima II, looking considerably less modern than La Belle Simone, got clear points only for its size, about 20 feet longer, and the matched pair of five-foot-tall Okinawan sailors standing twin guard in monogrammed white and blue at the foot of the gangplank.

Court Collects $13,657 In July

Circleville Municipal Court collected $13,657.36 in fines, bond forfeitures and costs during the month of July.

The city will receive $6,745.86, the county $3,912.22, and the treasurer of Ohio $2,646.94.

There were 448 criminal cases filed and 417 completed. In 22 cases, $620 in fines and costs were suspended.

There were 15 civil cases filed and seven completed, bringing the city $106.30 in costs.

There were 40 small claims cases filed and 26 completed.

Baltimore Still Contender In NFL

By GORDON BEARD

Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have a new owner and general manager, but not much has changed on the playing field. They're still contenders.

"We have a good team ... with a damned good defense," says Coach Don McCafferty, the low-key head coach who doesn't waste words. "We're championship contenders."

The Colts, whose 131-54-5 record since 1958 is the best in the National Football League, have depth with a fine blend of experience and youth. A third Super Bowl appearance in five years is not impossible.

The entire season for the Colts may be riding on a single position, now that they've made their long-awaited move at quarterback.

John Unitas, 39, and starting his 17th season, is still No. 1. But with veteran Earl Morrall traded, Unitas is backed by little-used Marty Domres, acquired from the San Diego Chargers; and untested Karl Douglas.

Unitas, who can still pick apart defenses but doesn't throw as well as in his prime, outlasted Colts' owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

After 19 years in Baltimore, Rosenbloom wound up with the Los Angeles franchise when Robert Irsay bought the Rams and traded them for the Colts.

Joe Thomas, Baltimore's new general manager, moved quickly after the swap was completed just prior to the opening of training camp. He signed nine players in one day, held firm against the contract renegotiation plans of All-Pro defensive end Bubba Smith, and traded guard John Williams who had played out his option.

Smith anchors one of the NFL's best defensive units which includes just two players over 30, tackle Fred Miller and safety Jerry Logan.

The starting linebacking unit, with "Mad Dog" Mike Curtis flanked by Ray May and Ted Hendricks, may be the best in pro ball.

Rookies Jack Mildren and Bruce Laird back Logan and Rick Volk at safety, while second-year man Leonard Dunlap is pushing Rex Kern for a cornerback spot. Charlie Stukes, who signed after playing out his option, is at the other corner.

Joining Smith and Miller in likely five-man rotating defensive line are Roy Hilton, Billy Newsome and Jim Bailey.

Last season, when the Colts posted a 10-4 record and advanced to the American Confer-

Reds Bomb Atlanta Braves; Win 9-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Eddie Mathews is convinced "we have a better ball club than we've shown, and these guys can do it."

The new Atlanta Braves manager admitted he was nervous in his debut as a major league manager Monday night as the Cincinnati Reds bombed him 9-1 on national television.

"I guess it's as good a way to break in as any," said the former Braves third baseman appointed to replace Luma Harris, who was fired.

"I had the normal emotions. Sure I was nervous, it's like the kickoff at a football game."

It was two former Atlanta teammates who did him in, Dennis Menke and Joe Morgan who batted in eight of the Reds' nine runs between them.

Morgan hit a three-run homer, his 14th of the season, and Menke got two more with a single in the six-run second inning for the Reds, and Mathews had to lift his first pitcher, Ron Reed—9-1.

"It's a long walk out there when you have to remove your pitcher," said Mathews, "but it sure is a lot longer coming back."

"I wish it had been different, but it wasn't, and you have to look ahead," he said of his first game as manager.

"It was a tough way for Eddie to break in," said Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan. "But I got more satisfaction in simply winning the game and moving closer to the Western Division title."

The Reds increased their lead to 5½ games with the Houston Astros off Monday.

Menke batted in three more runs with his sixth home run of the year in the sixth inning. The Braves managed to break Jim McGlothlin's shutout in the eighth inning on back-to-back errors by Darrel Chaney and Menke.

McGlothlin, who had not started since July 15, was inserted to replace the ailing Gary Nolan, who will miss at least three turns in the rotation, according to Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. Nolan complained of muscle spasms.

"Jim did as good a job as Gary," said Anderson.

Anderson, discussing Mathews' debut, said, "I had sympathy for him before the game when I saw him check his lineup over and over again to make sure there were no mistakes."

Tommy Casanova Admits Surprise At Hard Hitting

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati's Tommy Casanova plays down his performance in his first professional football game and adds he has some rather physical memories of the contest.

"The hitting is pretty tough," the Bengals free safety said Monday at the team's training camp. "I'm a little stiff right now."

The speedy Louisiana State graduate, drafted second by the Bengals, ran a punt back for a 52-yard touchdown against the Green Bay Packers Saturday night and made some key tackles.

But he said, "I'm never really satisfied with the way I play. I felt like I hustled. I made a lot of mistakes. I am sure the films will show that, but I guess that can be expected."

Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said the Bengals play was sloppy in the 24-14 loss but said that "Tommy Casanova is a great player, there's no question."

Regarding the touchdown, Casanova said he had a "heck of a wall set up (blocking) and all I had to do was cut back and reach the corner of the end zone. I had a lot of big guys that I didn't want to catch me. I was pretty well out of gas by the time that I scored."

Casanova described the contact with the Packers as "pretty tough." He said he was expecting to get hit hard, but what surprised him was the general speed of the offensive players.

"Everybody is coming at you pretty darn fast," he said. "Everybody has speed. In college, you probably had one good back or a couple of linemen who stood out because of their speed, but every team had weaknesses."

Casanova didn't join the Bengals camp until after he played in the Dallas Cowboys-College All-Star game over a week ago, but he said that didn't cause him much of a disadvantage because his Cincinnati teammates helped him along a lot.

But he said, "I'm never really satisfied with the way I play. I felt like I hustled. I made a lot of mistakes. I am sure the films will show that, but I guess that can be expected."

Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said the Bengals play was sloppy in the 24-14 loss but said that "Tommy Casanova is a great player, there's no question."

Regarding the touchdown, Casanova said he had a "heck of a wall set up (blocking) and all I had to do was cut back and reach the corner of the end zone. I had a lot of big guys that I didn't want to catch me. I was pretty well out of gas by the time that I scored."

Casanova described the contact with the Packers as "pretty tough." He said he was expecting to get hit hard, but what surprised him was the general speed of the offensive players.

The speedy Louisiana State graduate, drafted second by the Bengals, ran a punt back for a 52-yard touchdown against the Green Bay Packers Saturday night and made some key tackles.

Baltimore Still Contender In NFL

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have a new owner and general manager, but not much has changed on the playing field. They're still contenders.

"We have a good team ... with a damned good defense," says Coach Don McCafferty, the low-key head coach who doesn't waste words. "We're championship contenders."

The Colts, whose 131-545 record since 1958 is the best in the National Football League, have depth with a fine blend of experience and youth. A third Super Bowl appearance in five years is not impossible.

The entire season for the Colts may be riding on a single position, now that they've made their long-awaited move at quarterback.

John Unitas, 39, and starting his 17th season, is still No. 1. But with veteran Earl Morrall traded, Unitas is backed by little-used Marty Domres, acquired from the San Diego Chargers; and untested Karl Douglas.

Unitas, who can still pick apart defenses but doesn't throw as well as in his prime, outlasted Colts' owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

After 19 years in Baltimore, Rosenbloom wound up with the Los Angeles franchise when Robert Irsay bought the Rams and traded them for the Colts.

Joe Thomas, Baltimore's new general manager, moved quickly after the swap was completed just prior to the opening of training camp. He signed nine players in one day, held firm against the contract renegotiation plans of All-Pro defensive end Bubba Smith, and traded guard John Williams who had played out his option.

Smith anchors one of the NFL's best defensive units which includes just two players over 30, tackle Fred Miller and safety Jerry Logan.

The starting linebacking unit, with "Mad Dog" Mike Curtis flanked by Ray May and Ted Hendricks, may be the best in pro ball.

Rookies Jack Mildren and Bruce Laird back Logan and Rick Volk at safety, while second-year man Leonard Dunlap is pushing Rex Kern for a corner back spot. Charlie Stukes, who signed after playing out his option, is at the other corner.

Joining Smith and Miller in likely five-man rotating defensive line are Roy Hilton, Billy Newsome and Jim Bailey.

Last season, when the Colts posted a 10-4 record and advanced to the American Confer-

Reds Bomb Atlanta Braves; Win 9-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Eddie Mathews is convinced "we have a better ball club than we've shown, and these guys can do it."

The new Atlanta Braves manager admitted he was nervous in his debut as a major league manager Monday night as the Cincinnati Reds bombed him 9-1 on national television.

"I guess it's as good a way to break in as any," said the former Braves third baseman appointed to replace Luma Harris, who was fired.

"I had the normal emotions. Sure I was nervous, it's like the kickoff at a football game."

It was two former Atlanta teammates who did him in, Dennis Menke and Joe Morgan who batted in eight of the Reds' nine runs between them.

Morgan hit a three-run homer, his 14th of the season, and Menke got two more with a single in the six-run second inning for the Reds, and Mathews had to lift his first pitcher, Ron Reed—9-11.

"It's a long walk out there when you have to remove your pitcher," said Mathews, "but it sure is a lot longer coming back."

"I wish it had been different, but it wasn't, and you have to look ahead," he said of his first game as manager.

"It was a tough way for Eddie to break in," said Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan. "But I got more satisfaction in simply winning the game and moving closer to the Western Division title."

The Reds increased their lead to 5½ games with the Houston Astros off Monday.

Menke batted in three more runs with his sixth home run of the year in the sixth inning. The Braves managed to break Jim McGlothlin's shutout in the eighth inning on back-to-back errors by Darrel Chaney and Menke.

McGlothlin, who had not started since July 15, was inserted to replace the ailing Gary Nolan, who will miss at least three turns in the rotation, according to Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. Nolan complained of muscle spasms.

"Jim did as good a job as Gary," said Anderson.

Anderson, discussing Mathews' debut, said, "I had sympathy for him before the game when I saw him check his lineup over and over again to make sure there were no mistakes."

Tommy Casanova Admits Surprise At Hard Hitting

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati's Tommy Casanova plays down his performance in his first professional football game and adds he has some rather physical memories of the contest.

"The hitting is pretty tough," the Bengals free safety said Monday at the team's training camp. "I'm a little stiff right now."

The speedy Louisiana State graduate, drafted second by the Bengals, ran a punt back for a 52-yard touchdown against the Green Bay Packers Saturday night and made some key tackles.

But he said, "I'm never really satisfied with the way I play. I felt like I hustled. I made a lot of mistakes, I am sure the films will show that, but I guess that can be expected."

Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said the Bengals play was sloppy in the 24-14 loss but said that "Tommy Casanova is a great player, there's no question."

Regarding the touchdown, Casanova said he had a "heck of a wall set up (blocking) and all I had to do was cut back and reach the corner of the end zone. I had a lot of big guys that I didn't want to catch me. I was pretty well out of gas by the time that I scored."

Casanova described the contact with the Packers as "pretty tough." He said he was expecting to get hit hard, but what surprised him was the general speed of the offensive players.

"Everybody is coming at you pretty darn fast," he said. "Everybody has speed. In college, you probably had one good back or a couple of linemen who stood out because of their speed, but every team had weaknesses."

Casanova didn't join the Bengals camp until after he played in the Dallas Cowboys-College All-Star game over a week ago, but he said that didn't cause him much of a disadvantage because his Cincinnati teammates helped him along a lot.

Linhart's Goals Lead Saints Past Eagles, 13-10

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rookie Tom Linhart, an Austin soccer import, saw his first live professional football game Monday night. If New Orleans coach J.D. Roberts has anything to say about it, Linhart will see plenty more National Football League action.

The 30-year-old Linhart kicked two field goals, the last a nine-yarder with nine seconds remaining in the game, to help the Saints defeat the Philadelphia Eagles 13-10 in an NFL exhibition game.

Linhart also booted the extra point after quarterback Archie Manning had passed 73 yards to wide receiver Margene Adkins to tie the score at 10 in the fourth period. The hooting and jeering of the crowd of 53,372 fans didn't bother Linhart.

The game was delayed some 15 minutes just before Linhart booted the winning three points. New Orleans had recovered a fumbled fair catch at the Eagles' 25 with less than two minutes left. Then, Eagles' tackle Mike Dirks was charged with a personal foul and the penalty moved the ball to the Philadelphia 12.

The crowd was incensed over the penalty and every time New Orleans' Manning started calling signals they drowned him out with the booing. Twelve times, Manning brought his team over the ball, and each time he had to give up. At one point, the officials sent both teams off the field for several minutes.

The Eagles scored first on a second-period 61-yard drive on eight plays. Quarterback Pete Liske passed 10 yards to Harold Jackson in the end zone with five seconds left in the half.

Tom Dempsey, a Saints' cast-off, kicked a 44-yarder at 2:50 into the fourth period for a 10-3 Eagles' lead. Manning's bomb to Adkins and Linhart's clutch clincher at the end sent the Saints marching home a winner.

In other NFL developments, the San Diego Chargers sent reserve quarterback Marty Domres to the Baltimore Colts for a 1973 first-round draft choice and rookie tight end John Andrews from Indiana University.

In another trade, the Miami Dolphins sent veteran Les Shy to the Cincinnati Bengals for Ron Lamb in an exchange of running backs.

The Minnesota Vikings acquired offensive tackle Sam Walton from the Houston Oilers for a future draft choice. The Atlanta Falcons cut No. 5 draft choice, running back Billy Taylor from the University of Michigan, the Most Valuable Player in the Big Ten Conference last season.

And George Mira, a former All-American quarterback at the University of Miami who played with four NFL teams since 1964, signed with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League. He was dropped recently by Miami.

Paul Armstrong, Oakland Calif., sophomore, and Joe Corson, Mintola, N. Y., junior will co-captain Columbia University's 1972-73 track team.

Amanda Aces Nip Stoutsville, 10-9

Amanda Aces nipped the Stoutsville Super Stars, 10-9, to win the championship in the Mosquito Tournament at Stoutsville.

The Aces led 8-0 going into the fifth inning but had to fight for their lives as the Stars tallied five times in the fifth and added four more in the sixth.

S. Delong and E. Christopher shared the mound duties for the Aces. They allowed six hits, walked six and struckout seven. Jay Fausnaugh and Denney Compton hurled for the Super Stars, giving up seven hits, walking six and fanning 14.

Fausnaugh paced the Stars with three singles, Marcus Hartley an Brent Thomas each had a double and Compton slashed a single.

Washington received a trophy for third place in the tournament.

Dave McNally of the Baltimore Orioles has won 20 or more games in each of the last four seasons.

Major All-Stars Lose To Waverly In Tournament

The Circleville Major League All-Stars rapped ten hits but were unable to score a run as the Waverly All-Stars won 11-0 in the first game of the Chillicothe tournament.

Toren Bensonhaver and Dave Cline each took a turn on the hill for the Roundtown All-Stars, allowing 14 hits, walking six, and striking out seven.

Butch McFarland and Dave Holbrook each clubbed three singles, while Tom McGuire hit a pair of one baggers, and Ronnie Hill and Todd Mancini singled for the Circleville All-Stars.

Holsinger and Rowe were on the mound for the Waverly Major League All-Stars, walking five and striking out 13.

Noble slugged a double and a single for the winners, Rowe rapped three singles, Willis, Holsinger, and Thomas all hit a pair of singles and Fredrick, Brady and Fielder singled.

The Circleville All-Stars will play the McArthur Merchants 2 p.m. Sunday at Chillicothe.

Orioles Turn Back Milwaukee

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mike Cuellar had nothing, said Earl Weaver. But Weaver did have Mark Belanger—although by listening to the Baltimore shortstop, he may not have him for long.

What Belanger had Monday night was a hot bat at the right time. His tie-breaking, two-run double in the sixth inning provided the Orioles with the impetus they needed to turn back the Milwaukee Brewers.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota shut out Texas 5-0, Cleveland beat Boston 6-2 and Kansas City defeated Oakland 4-2. On the abbreviated National League schedule, St. Louis nipped the New York Mets 3-2 in 13 innings, Cincinnati clobbered Atlanta 9-1 and Pittsburgh's game at Montreal was rained out.

"Don't misquote me because I'm not asked to be traded," Belanger said after helping the staggering Orioles to only their third victory in the last 10 games. "But those thoughts have run through my mind and a trade is still a possibility."

"I feel I have to play regularly to do my job because I have my up and down streaks," said the nine-year veteran who alternates at shortstop with Bobby Grich when Belanger is at short, you'll find Grich somewhere else around the infield.

Ollie Brown's run-scoring single in the first inning for Milwaukee and Brooks Robinson's homer in the second for Baltimore sent the teams into their sixth inning tie before Jim Lonborg issued two walks and served up the pitch that Belanger drilled into the left-field corner. But Doyle Alexander had to come to Cuellar's rescue in the sixth after the Brewers had cut the margin to one run.

"Cuellar had nothing tonight," Weaver, the Orioles' manager said. "He had no fast ball to start with and they were jumping on his slow curve."

Jim Perry gave up just two hits—a pair of harmless fifth-inning singles—drove in a run and helped himself with a strange unassisted double play to lead the Twins past the Rangers. Bob Darwin chipped in with a three-run homer.

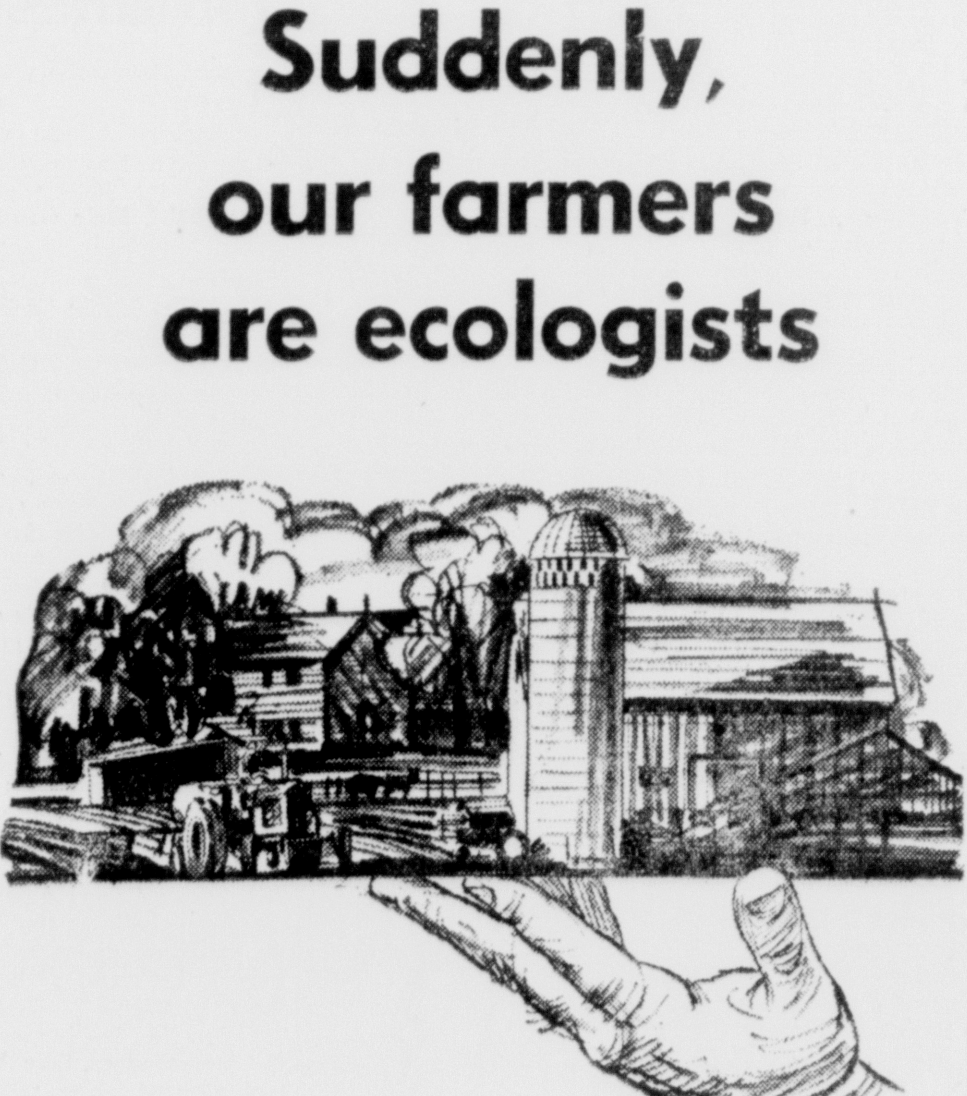

Dick Billings and Ted Ford's hits set up the weird double play. Bill Fahey followed with a looper back to the mound, with plate umpire Bill Haller calling the infield fly rule.

That meant Fahey was automatically out. Perry, not bearing Haller's call, let the ball drop, then grabbed it and raced to third for an attempted force play. And when, in the confusion, Billings assumed he was out on the force and wandered toward the dugout, Perry tagged him for the second out.

Graig Nettles slapped a tie-breaking single in the eighth inning, then pinch-hitter John Brohamer followed with a bases-loaded, three-run double to pave the way to the Indians' victory over Boston.

The Royals jumped on Jim Hunter for four runs in the fourth with winning pitcher Dick Drago, Cookie Rojas and Amos Otis hitting the tying, winning and insurance-run singles.

Suddenly, our farmers are ecologists

These days, it seems, everybody is talking ecology. So what else is new? Local farmers were living in harmony with the land long before ecology became a household word. They understand that, in the long run, man doesn't live off the land, but with the land. And they work hard to maintain and improve the natural beauty of this area. Mother Nature seems pleased with the work of our farmers. She still shows herself proud around here.

Killbuck Mary Heads Field In Scarlet And Gray Cup

One of the top three rated 3-year-old trotting fillies in the country leads a field of eight sophomores postward Thursday night at Scioto Downs in the $8,500 Scarlet and Gray Cup series.

Killbuck Mary, the brown Hickory Pride filly, owned by Hank and Bob Critchfield of Wooster, Ohio is ranked right behind the great Delmonica Hanover, one of the leading contenders for this year's

Hambletonian classic.

Trained and driven by Dick Buxton, Killbuck Mary won fifteen of twenty-six starts last year with a juvenile record of 2:03 3/5 over a five-eighths mile track, and this year, the long-striding filly has posted two very impressive victories. She won the American National 3-year-old trot at Sportsman's Park in Chicago in 2:01 4/5, and then met Delmonica Hanover three straight times, finishing second in each start.

Thursday night will be decision time for the owners of two of the Scarlet and Gray Cup starters. Curly Smart, who needs no introduction to central Ohio racing fans, sold his Hambletonian eligible Quick Work for $100,000 after he scored at Scioto in 2:02 1/5. Since that time, the young Speedster colt has been having his problems making breaks, taking him out of contention. But this colt has blinding speed, and they don't make mistakes under Mr. Smart very long.

owned by John Hillis and Ralph Hubble of Huron, Ohio. Trained and driven by Wayne Nickells, this fine gaited colt has won in 2:03 at Scioto this year.

Gene Riegle has the promising Speedy Count filly, Speeding Tara for owner Paul Elrod of Washington C.H., Ohio, and Dick Brandt has the young Speedy Scot colt. Bob Seabrook goes with Aflame Hanover, owned by Joel Black of Mansfield, Ohio, and Wendell Kirk has Charity Run, a 2:07 winner for owner John Stiffler of Jackson, Ohio, to round out the select field.

One of the sport's fast improving 3-year-old trotters, Mr. Caldwell, owned by Duane Greenlee of Milford, Michigan, and driven by Charlie Norris, Jr., had to be scratched. After finishing third to Super Bowl last Friday night, the bold son of Scotch Valley got his leg hung up on a fence, broke it and had to be destroyed.

Golf Clinic For Juniors Held Saturday

A Junior golf clinic and tournament was held at Upper Lansdowne Golf Links Saturday. Harry Hoffer, Bill Smith and Don Collins conducted the clinic which included a film presentation, instruction on driving and putting, a six hole tournament for the advanced juniors and a three hole tournament for the beginning juniors.

Tim Triance took the top honors shooting even par for six holes in the even par for the advanced juniors followed by Terry Spellacy second and Scott Harcourt.

Trent Oiler was in first place of the second division of the advanced juniors with Doug Richards getting second place, and Mike Goldsberry third.

Dave Edman captured low score on the eighth hole while Dan Holley took low score on nine and Rusty Burris had the best chip for the beginning juniors.

Girls' Lib Hits Ohio Prep Sports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Girls' lib is striking the Ohio high school sports picture and Dolores Billhardt serves as its chief architect.

Miss Billhardt, an extraordinary athlete herself, has the demanding job of putting together a program for Ohio girls sports as the first woman assistant commissioner.

In her second week on the job, the 34-year-old Bowling Green product knows she faces a tall assignment.

"Basically, our main problem is educating men on the need for a girls program," she said.

"Girls need interscholastic sports just as much as boys. It helps them socially. They learn to live by rules and it's a good outlet to release their emotions," said Miss Billhardt.

She knows the problems girls encounter because she's served as a program organizer, coach and official either in the Mansfield schools or as an Ashland College physical education professor.

Foremost of the woes are lack of funds, coaches, officials, facilities and transportation.

ONE OF Ohio's top Hambletonian candidates, The Black Streak, from the Howard Beissinger stable was rated among the top eligibles at the start of the year. But lameness and some mediocre performances shoved him down in the ratings. But the past three weeks has changed all that.

Three weeks ago, the Garrett Claypool owned son of Clayburne finished second to the brilliant Super Bowl in Chicago and was clocked in 2:01 3/5. Last Friday night, he was right there behind Super Bowl, Song Can and Mr. Caldwell in 2:01. The talented Beissinger assistant, Mike Zeller who enjoyed his second two minute drive behind All Right last Saturday will be in the sulky Thursday night.

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Cleveland Browns coach Nick Skorich was happy with his defensive secondary in last Friday's 13-3 defeat to the Los Angeles Rams, but he is looking forward to a stronger test of them from the San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

"Our secondary played well," Skorich said of the Rams effort. "They did what they had to do to control the passing game."

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An attempt Monday by Cleveland Indians president Nick Mileti to build a warning track for his baseball team's outfield fire of Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell, but also of city officials.

Andrew C. Putka, the city's finance director, said he will suggest to Mayor Ralph J. Perk that the city rewrite the Indians' current lease.

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Defending champion Curt Day remains the leader going into this evening's final five games of the 1972 World Horseshoe Pitching Championships.

The Frankfort, Ind., native turned back six challengers in Monday competition to keep his record intact at a perfect 30-0.

Close behind is Elmer Hohl, Wellesley, Ont., with a 29-1 mark in match play.

Short Reins J W Song To Win At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — J. W. Song, owned by Frank Moats of Williamsport, took the lead at the three-quarter mark, then surged away from the pack to win the featured eighth race at Scioto Downs Monday by four lengths.

The 4-year-old mare is trained and driven by Forrest Short of Circleville.

J. W. Song paced the distance in a lifetime best of 2:03 2/5 to pay $7.60, $4.40 and $2.60.

Lucky Lang placed for $14 and $6. Show horse Our Bitter Sweet brought $3.80.

The nightly double combination of No. 2 Baron Gay and No. 3 Flying Success returned $30.40. The 2-5 quinnella paid $22.80.

Attendance for the night's racing was 3,980 and total handle was $212,259.

Will summer marketing shrink your hog profits?

Not if you deliver to Heinold.

It's going to be hot in the next two months—hot enough to shrink pounds off your hogs enroute to market. That heat will rob them of more weight if they must wait around, or be shoved around during the selling process. And you're the guy that pays for the shrink!

Why throw away your profit! Load up your hogs early in the morning for a short, quick ride to Heinold Hog Market. Your hogs will be weighed immediately and your check written right away on arrival weights. Within an hour after you leave the farm, you can be on your way home with a bigger hog check.

Let Heinold pick up the bill for most of your hogs' shrink.

Killbuck Mary Heads Field In Scarlet And Gray Cup

One of the top three rated 3-year-old trotting fillies in the country leads a field of eight sophomores postward Thursday night at Scioto Downs in the $8,500 Scarlet and Gray Cup series.

Killbuck Mary, the brown Hickory Pride filly, owned by Hank and Bob Critchfield of Wooster, Ohio is ranked right behind the great Delmonica Hanover, one of the leading contenders for this year's

Hambletonian classic.

Trained and driven by Dick Buxton, Killbuck Mary won fifteen of twenty-six starts last year with a juvenile record of 2:03 3-5 over a five-eighths mile track, and this year, the long-striding filly has posted two very impressive victories. She won the American National 3-year-old trot at Sportsman's Park in Chicago in 2:01 4-5, and then met Delmonica Hanover three straight times, finishing second in each start.

Thursday night will be decision time for the owners of two of the Scarlet and Gray Cup starters. Curly Smart, who needs no introduction to central Ohio racing fans, sold his Hambletonian eligible Quick Work for $100,000 after he scored at Scioto in 2:02 1-5. Since that time, the young Speedster colt has been having his problems making breaks, taking him out of contention. But this colt has blinding speed, and they don't make mistakes under Mr. Smart very long.

owned by John Hillis and Ralph Hubble of Huron, Ohio. Trained and driven by Wayne Nickells, this fine gaited colt has won in 2:03 at Scioto this year.

Gene Riegle has the promising Speedy Count filly, Speeding Tara for owner Paul Elrod of Washington C.H., Ohio, and Dick Brandt has the young Speedy Scot colt. Bob Seabrook goes with Affame Hanover, owned by Joel Black of Mansfield, Ohio, and Wendell Kirk has Charity Run, a 2:07 winner for owner John Stiffler of Jackson, Ohio, to round out the select field.

One of the sport's fast improving 3-year-old trotters, Mr. Caldwell, owned by Duane Greenlee of Milford, Michigan, and driven by Charlie Norris, Jr., had to be scratched. After finishing third to Super Bowl last Friday night, the bold son of Scotch Valley got his leg hung up on a fence, broke it and had to be destroyed.

Girls' Lib Hits Ohio Prep Sports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Girls' lib is striking the Ohio high school sports picture and Dolores Billhardt serves as its chief architect.

Miss Billhardt, an extraordinary athlete herself, has the demanding job of putting together a program for Ohio girls sports as the first woman assistant commissioner.

In her second week on the job, the 34-year-old Bowling Green product knows she faces a tall assignment.

"Basically, our main problem is educating men on the need for a girls program," she said.

"Girls need interscholastic sports just as much as boys. It helps them socially. They learn to live by rules and it's a good outlet to release their emotions," said Miss Billhardt.

She knows the problems girls encounter because she's served as a program organizer, coach and official either in the Mansfield schools or as an Ashland College physical education professor.

Foremost of the woes are lack of funds, coaches, officials, facilities and transportation.

Bremen Sponsors Softball Tourney

The 10th annual Bremen Pee Wee Association A.S.A. sanctioned softball tournament will get underway Aug. 17.

The double elimination event will be limited to 32 teams. Entries must be in by Aug. 13.

The first four teams will receive trophies with jackets being presented to members of the winning team.

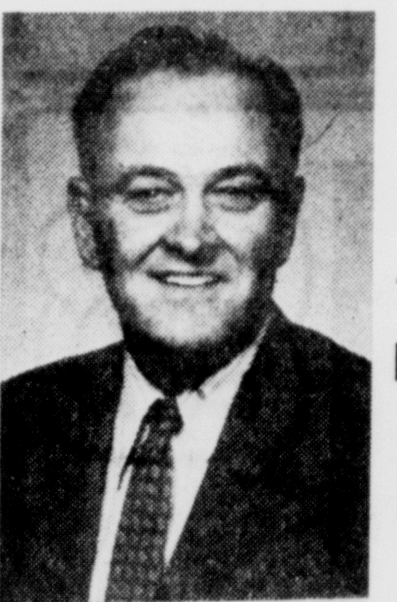

Trophies will also be awarded for the most home runs, most hits, most valuable player and the all-tournament team.

Further information may be obtained from Tom Turnee, 123 Purvis Ave., Bremen, O., 43107, phone 569-7373.

SPORTS Highlights

ONE OF Ohio's top Hambletonian candidates, The Black Streak from the Howard Beissinger stable was rated among the top eligibles at the start of the year. But lameness and some mediocre performances shoved him down in the ratings. But the past three weeks has changed all that.

Three weeks ago, the Garrett Claypool owned son of Clayburne finished second to the brilliant Super Bowl in Chicago and was clocked in 2:01 3-5. Last Friday night, he was right there behind Super Bowl, Song Can and Mr. Caldwell in 2:01. The talented Beissinger assistant, Mike Zeller who enjoyed his second two minute drive behind All Right last Saturday will be in the sulky Thursday night.

Another Hambletonian eligible who's owner will soon have to make that decision soon is Neon Light, the bay son of Matastar.

Budde Winner Of Opening Legion Clash

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Budde Post hiked its season record to 34-8 Monday with a 29-6 shellacking of Fremont in the opening round of the 1972 Ohio State American Legion Baseball Tournament here.

With its lopsided win over Fremont, now 30-18, Cincinnati appeared an early favorite to make Saturday's finals.

The Queen City team won the double elimination tournament in both 1968 and 1969.

Cincinnati was to meet today the winner of the rescheduled Athens-Troy game, called Monday after three innings because of rain.

In other first round action Monday, Findlay defeated Kirtland, 8-2; Euclid beat Bridgeport, 13-6; Steubenville edged past Hillsboro, 4-2; Scioto overran Kent, 16-2; and Marion topped Van Wert, 6-4.

Today's pairings:
At 9 a.m.
Bridgeport, 28-10, vs Hillsboro, 33-17.

Athens, 21-3, vs Troy, 25-14, to conclude Monday's game.
Kent, 14-13, vs Van Wert, 15-6.

At 1 p.m.
Steubenville, 30-9, vs Scioto, 13-6.

Kirtland, 33-6, vs Fremont, 30-18.

At 3:30 p.m.
Marion, 29-9, vs Winner of Athens-Troy game.

Cincinnati, 34-8, vs Loser of Athens-Troy game.

CUT WINTER HEATING BILLS NOW

The Gas Company has a plan that makes it easy. It's a 12-month Budget Payment Plan that lets you avoid peak heating bills in the cold months by spreading the cost of your winter heating over the entire year. Here's how the plan works. You simply slice up your yearly heating bill into twelve small equal parts. And with Gas, that's slicing it pretty thin! The amount you would pay each month will be shown on your next gas bill.

Ask about our Budget Payment Plan at your local gas company office.

Hall Of Fame Inductions Held At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Yogi Berra batted leadoff and made a hit. He was followed in the lineup by a host of superstars.

The Hall of Fame induction ceremonies was baseball drama at its best.

The tearfully sincere Berra and humbly grateful Sandy Koufax were among eight great names out of baseball's past inducted Monday into the Hall amid Cooperstown's pastoral setting.

"My only regret is that my father and mother weren't here to see this moment," Berra said of his late parents while he cried openly. "But I want to thank baseball for what it's given me . . . I only hope that I can put something back."

The former New York Yankee catching great was the first speaker on the rostrum, bulging with famous names from the sport's past and present.

While thousands of fans, along with friends and family of the new inductees, crowded in front of the Hall of Fame library, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn introduced the newest of the immortalized:

Berra, Josh Gibson, Lefty Gomez, William Harbridge, Koufax, Buck Leonard, Early Wynn and Ross Youngs. Gibson, Harbridge and Youngs were honored posthumously.

Koufax, the fabulous Los Angeles left-hander, recalled his early "inglorious" years when the Dodgers were in Brooklyn.

"I thought after my first six years in baseball that it was going to be: Go out and look for another job," said Koufax.

"But then I had some help." Joe Becker, the Dodger pitching coach, and catcher Roy

Anderson To Start For Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Quarterback Kenny Anderson, because it is his turn and because of his performance against the Green Bay Packers Saturday night, was tabbed starting quarterback this week for the Cincinnati Bengals.

"Ken did well, he looked good," said coach Paul Brown of the second half performance in the 24-14 exhibition loss to the Packers.

"I think . . . well, possibly he'll start this week," said Brown. "It's his turn."

The Bengals host the Detroit Lions Saturday night at Cincinnati Riverfront Stadium.

"The pictures give a fine illustration of the mental atmosphere that goes with a football game," said Brown of the game films.

"We were just out there playing in the first half. There was a considerable change after that."

Defensive pass rushing and pass catching was scheduled for emphasis this week. Neither the Bengals nor the Packers got to the passer once during the contest.

Four different players dropped passes — Speedy Thomas, Jess Phillips, Chip Myers and Bruce Coslet. Virgil Carter threw three of them and his completion rate was three of 11 for 22 yards, while Anderson hit seven of eight for 42 yards.

Carter played the first half at quarterback.

Campanella and John Roseboro eventually provided the assistance that made Koufax the outstanding pitcher in the game for five years before an early retirement in 1966.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

A weak ridge of high pressure brought sunny skies to the state early today, following showers Monday.

But a new storm was expected to move rapidly into the area from Minnesota, bringing showers back to northwestern Ohio this afternoon and over the remainder of the state by this evening.

The heaviest shower and thunderstorm activity is expected in northern Ohio.

A trailing cold front will sweep across the state bringing clear skies and cool temperatures Wednesday.

FORECASTS
Cloudy tonight with a chance of showers and thundershowers. Lows in the low to mid 50s. Wednesday partly cloudy and continued cool. High in the 70s.

LAKE SHORE NORTH-EAST INLAND, NORTHWEST INLAND — Considerable cloudiness tonight with showers and thundershowers. Lows in the low to mid 50s. Wednesday partly cloudy and continued cool. High in the 70s.

WEST CENTRAL CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST — Considerable cloudiness tonight with a chance of showers and thundershowers. Lows in the low to mid 50s. Wednesday partly cloudy and continued cool. High in the 70s.

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA — Cloudy tonight and Wednesday with showers likely. Lows tonight from the mid 50s to low 60s. High Tuesday in the 70s.

WEST VIRGINIA — Becoming cloudy with scattered showers or thundershowers tonight and Wednesday. Lows tonight in the 50s and low 60s. High Wednesday in the 70s.

KENTUCKY — Clearing west, a chance of thundershowers east tonight. Lows in the low 60s. Fair and mild west and central, clearing east Wednesday. High 73 to 85.

Ohio Voting Residency Law Voided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin Monday made permanent a temporary restraining order banning enforcement of Ohio's six month voter residency requirement.

As a result of the court's decision, the only requirement left for a person wishing to vote in any Ohio election is that he reside in an Ohio county 30 days prior to the election.

The original court order, issued in March, came in response to a suit filed by the Ohio Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union challenging its constitutionality.

Ohio ACLU Executive Director Benson Wolman estimated nullification of the state's old residency requirement would enfranchise an additional 250,000 to 300,000 Ohioans.

Secretary of State Ted Brown said following the ruling that the order "merely formalized an agreement under which the six-month residency requirement had been eliminated anyway."

Brown observed the 30-day residency stipulation had already been put into effect in time for the state's May primary.

4 Indiana Residents Air Victims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three Indiana men on a fishing trip and another Hoosier who had just purchased a plane were killed Monday in separate air crashes.

Donald E. Hart, Rt. 3, Rochester; John Graber Jr., 26, Rt. 4, Goshen, and Willard R. Goss, 42, Mishawaka were killed when their single-engine plane crashed in a cornfield near the Elkhart-Kosciusko county line about 1 1/2 miles south of Napanee in northern Indiana.

Investigators did not know which man was piloting the four-seat Piper Comanche, but they said both Graber and Goss had pilot's licenses.

Witnesses told police the plane nose-dived to the ground after its left wing fell off.

Stanley R. Cook, 24, Chesterfield, was killed Monday evening when his single-engine plane crashed in a cornfield about five miles south of Fortville in Hancock County, north-east of Indianapolis.

County police said Cook and George Mock of Anderson had just purchased the plane. Cook was piloting it back to Anderson and Mock was flying another plane.

A witness, Vernon Harting of Fortville said he "saw the plane nose right down and turn slightly and just hit the ground." Mock flew over the wreckage until Harting got to the scene.

The Federal Aviation Administration continued an investigation today.

Eddie Machen Dies; Once Contender

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The turbulent and near-brilliant career of Eddie Machen has ended in violent death with authorities unable to fit together the pieces leading to the former boxer's last bout.

Machen, once the world's leading heavyweight contender, died Monday in an apparent fall from his second-story apartment.

The coroner's office said late Monday that Machen, 40, had suffered liver damage in the fall and that foul play was not suspected.

4 Indiana Residents Air Victims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three Indiana men on a fishing trip and another Hoosier who had just purchased a plane were killed Monday in separate air crashes.

Donald E. Hart, Rt. 3, Rochester; John Graber Jr., 26, Rt. 4, Goshen, and Willard R. Goss, 42, Mishawaka were killed when their single-engine plane crashed in a cornfield near the Elkhart-Kosciusko county line about 1½ miles south of Napanee in northern Indiana.

Investigators did not know which man was piloting the four-seat Piper Comanche, but they said both Graber and Goss had pilot's licenses.

Witnesses told police the plane nose-dived to the ground after its left wing fell off.

Stanley R. Cook, 24, Chesterfield, was killed Monday evening when his single-engine plane crashed in a cornfield about five miles south of Fortville in Hancock County, north-east of Indianapolis.

County police said Cook and George Mock of Anderson had just purchased the plane. Cook was piloting it back to Anderson and Mock was flying another plane.

A witness, Vernon Harting of Fortville said he "saw the plane nose right down and turn slightly and just hit the ground." Mock flew over the wreckage until Harting got to the scene.

The Federal Aviation Administration continued an investigation today.

Eddie Machen Dies; Once Contender

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The turbulent and near-brilliant career of Eddie Machen has ended in violent death with authorities unable to fit together the pieces leading to the former boxer's last bout.

Machen, once the world's leading heavyweight contender, died Monday in an apparent fall from his second-story apartment.

The coroner's office said late Monday that Machen, 40, had suffered liver damage in the fall and that foul play was not suspected.

Air Pollution Decreases, Water Worse, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported Monday that air quality has improved in many cities and said "the trend is promising."

But the Council on Environmental Quality also said water pollution worsened in the major watersheds it measured.

The 40-page annual report contained a new estimate on antipollution spending, $287.1 billion over the next decade. It said the annual cost of improving the environment is estimated to rise from $10 billion in 1970 to $33.3 billion in 1980.

The report cautioned that many of the nation's national parks are becoming overcrowded and said restrictions on hotel accommodations and automobile use within the parks soon may be necessary.

In a message to Congress accompanying the report, President Nixon said the record of Congress "is entirely inadequate."

Nixon said more than 20 of his major environmental proposals are pending. He declared: "The nation needs these laws, and they should be enacted this year."

The council studied 1970 conditions in 82 sites for the report. The year 1970 is the last for which statistics were available.

"Based on almost all measures used, air quality on a nationwide basis improved between 1969 and 1970," the report said. "While some of this apparent improvement may be due to changes in weather, localized short-term fluctuations or other factors aside from a meaningful reduction of emissions, the trend is promising."

The report said that for two of the five major pollutants, carbon monoxide and particulates, emissions in 1970 were less than they were in 1969.

Emissions were greater for one pollutant, nitrogen oxide, and were unchanged for sulphur oxides and hydrocarbons. The previous year four of the five pollutants had increased.

5 Indicted In Kenton Arson Case

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A federal grand jury here has indicted three Indianapolis men, one from Cincinnati and another from Tiburon, Calif., on charges they conspired and attempted to burn a warehouse in Ohio to collect $420,000 in insurance.

The four-count indictment charges they traveled from Indiana to Kenton, Ohio, for various purposes in connection with the plan, and that they used interstate telephone lines and the mails.

Charged Monday as co-conspirators and with interstate travel in aid of arson racketeering were: L. Deane Shepard, Indianapolis, a public insurance adjuster; David A. McGlinchey, Indianapolis, securities dealer; Jerry J. Jaquess, Indianapolis, real estate agent; David R. Paicely, Cincinnati, who was caught leaving the burning warehouse July 24 and charged by Kenton police with burglary; and William A. Hodge, Tiburon, allegedly an interim owner of the warehouse.

Paicely is in custody at Kenton. Warrants for the other four were expected to be issued today, said U.S. Attorney Stanley Miller.

The arson plan was aborted when the FBI received a tip and set up a watch around the building. The fire was extinguished with small damage, investigators said.

Train-Car Crash Slightly Injures 11 In Family

PAULDING, Ohio (AP) — Eleven members of the Juanita Harp family from near Paulding escaped serious injury late Monday when a speeding freight train slammed into their auto.

The Van Wert Post of the Ohio Highway Patrol said the train, traveling at an estimated 60 miles per hour, tore the front end from the Harp car on impact, spinning the vehicle completely around. Pieces of the car's engine and transmission were found scattered down the track.

All eleven, including three adults and eight children, were treated and then released from Paulding County Hospital.

Child Abuse Is Rapidly Increasing

Pickaway County Children Services Board Executive Secretary Bruce McCrillis today urged all residents of Pickaway County to join with Governor John J. Gilligan and the county children services board in its effort to stop the rapidly growing problem of child abuse and neglect in Ohio.

Executive Secretary McCrillis made the plea in connection with Gov. Gilligan's campaign "to protect Ohio's most valuable resource — its children."

Executive Secretary McCrillis pointed out that citizens suspecting child abuse or neglect should contact the county children services board.

The executive secretary said the person to contact in the Pickaway County Welfare Department was Children's Protective Supervisor Virginia Adkins. He said her telephone number is 474-2329 or 474-4381.

Executive Secretary McCrillis pointed out that the Governor had declared the week of Aug. 6-12 as "Protect Our Children Week" in Ohio in an attempt to focus public attention on the problem of child abuse and neglect.

"The Governor is deeply concerned and he has requested the Pickaway County Children Services Board to use its legal authority and resources in the fight against child abuse and neglect," said Executive Secretary McCrillis.

"As part of the Governor's campaign, two social workers from the county children services board will be attending a training workshop in the near future. They will learn more about their job and what they can do to better protect the children of this county."

Executive Secretary McCrillis said the Ohio Department of Public Welfare has published an information kit to inform Ohioans on how to report and prevent child abuse.

He said the kit could be obtained free of charge by writing to: Department of Public Welfare, P.O. Box 2669, Columbus, Ohio 43216.

Set Changes In WAC Clothes, Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — To attract more enlistees, the Women's Army Corps plans to make its uniforms more stylish and the jobs more mind-challenging.

WAC Director Brig. Gen. Mildred C. Bailey said Monday it is part of the overall plan to use more women in the military to smooth the way for an all-volunteer Army by next summer.

"By bringing in more women," she said, "the Army will be able to reduce the number of men required in noncombat jobs."

The 13,320 member Corps will be expanded to 15,900 by next June, and by June 1978 it will be 24,000, the largest since World War II when the Corps was nearly 100,000, said Gen. Bailey.

As one enticement, she said, the WAC green uniform will be fashioned to make it more feminine, more comfortable and easier to keep neat. A pantsuit for work is also being considered, she said.

One style that won't be altered is the skirt length. It will stay the same—one inch above or one inch below the knee. "We feel this is a good reasonable skirt length for our uniforms," said the 52-year-old general.

But no more are WACs subjected to cloddish old-fashioned shoes and the World War II style cap. Now they can wear a modern patent-leather shoe and a black beret.

Almost any type of job except combat will be opened up to enlistees. The WACs, now mostly in clerical and administrative posts, will soon take their place alongside men as radar technicians, missile-repair crewmen, electronics specialist and heavy-equipment operator.

Blushes Banished In English Shop

LONDON (AP) — Sam Morris, head of a fashion store chain, hopes to boost his lingerie sales. Morris has seen strong men go weak at the knee when they ask girl sales assistants for underwear for their wives. So he's opened a "blush bar" staffed by men in one of his London stores.

"A man can handle one woman at a time, but put him in a shop full of them and he panics," says 48-year-old Morris.

SAIGON (AP) — Two months after napalm dropped by South Vietnamese planes sent 9-year-old Phan Thi Kim Phuc screaming in pain and panic down a highway northwest of Saigon, she has nearly recovered from her burns.

At the Barksy Center, a hospital for plastic and reconstructive surgery in Saigon, Vietnamese surgeons trained in the United States planted a patchwork of stamp-sized grafts over her burned back, neck and arms.

She'll probably be home for school in the fall; not so with many of her friends.

More than 50 children and adults are at the Barksy Center with faces and bodies scarred by war, accidents, disease and congenital defects.

There are burned ones, victims of war and home mishaps; people disfigured by mines and shell fragments, babies lying in cribs recovering from operations for cleft palates, a common birth defect in Vietnam; and the victims of noma, a still-unexplained disease which swiftly eats away facial tissue and bones.

Compared to the other patients, Kim Phuc is lucky.

Neighbors Replace Money 'Meanest Thief' Had Stolen

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Nashvilleans have donated more than $800 to replace the $225 taken from a woman as she slept outside her husband's hospital room where he is confined with terminal illness.

"I just don't know what to say," she said tearfully after being told of the donations.

Her fame as "the little girl in the newspaper" has caused some consternation among the doctors and nurses.

"I don't understand why she gets so much attention," says a Vietnamese plastic surgeon.

"She is among the least seriously injured here and she will be going home soon."

Kim Phuc has a home to go to — a modest house among fruit trees in the town of Tang Bang, 25 miles northwest of Saigon. Unlike her, many Barksy patients have only each other: their families are dead or lose touch as the patients, time in the hospital stretches out. Some patients stay for a year or more while the surgeons rebuild them.

Lam Luc, a 2-year-old, lost the lower part of his face to a shell fragment at An Loc. His father was killed. The doctors are rebuilding his mouth with plates and grafts, and he can eat again.

There is Nham, a sad-faced, 8-year-old who sits on his bed constricted by a network of bandages securing a "tube" of skin from his arm to his face. Nham is a noma victim. Doctors halted the spread of the disease and now are trying to encourage the facial skin to grow. Nham is an orphan. A brother who used to visit him doesn't come any more, and Nham doesn't know where he is.

Xuan Thi Thanh at 14 months the younger ones. Mentally retarded and epileptic, she fell in the family cooking fire and burned her face and arms. Her family, in the northern city of Da Nang, doesn't come now, and she smiles and clutches at visitors, begging for attention and love.

There is Son Si Men, a Cambodian boy who came more than a year ago with severe napalm burns. Several times he nearly died. He doesn't remember where his village is or what became of his family. But now, after months of delicate skin grafts, he puts on his hat and leaves for home, looking much older than 14. His eyes fill with tears as he says goodbye. A friend, he is told, will try to find his family.

There are the others: A soldier badly burned when his armored personnel carrier hit a mine in Laos over a year ago. A beautiful peasant girl blinded and disfigured by a booby trap while working in a field. An old woman, burned, sitting in a wheelchair in a corner, alone and shy. A dozen children recuperating from cleft palate operations, their arms in braces so they won't tear out the stitches.

The Barksy Center began in a converted apartment in 1968 and moved into the present clinic at Cho Ray Hospital in 1969. It has treated more than 3,000 persons in four years, and the patients come now at the rate of 100 a month.

When first established, Barksy was staffed almost completely by American and other Western doctors and nurses. An American administrator, Joyce Horn of Riverdale, Ill., remains, but most of the operations are done by Vietnamese doctors and nurses. There are three Vietnamese plastic surgeons, another in training, and more than 30 nurses.

The center is sponsored by the New York-based Children's Medical Relief International, which is headed by the noted American plastic surgeon, Dr. Arthur J. Barsky. Most of its financial support comes from the U.S. Agency for International Development, but its funds have been cut back like other foreign programs. Children's Medical Relief has begun a major money-raising effort to get private funds for the hospital.

The photograph of Kim Phuc fleeing down the highway moved Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to recommend $550,000 for Vietnam's burn victims, to be administered by Children's Medical Relief. The proposal is part of the current foreign aid bill.

One style that won't be altered is the skirt length. It will stay the same—one inch above or one inch below the knee.

"We feel this is a good reasonable skirt length for our uniforms," said the 52-year-old general.

But no more are WACs subjected to cloddish old-fashioned shoes and the World War II style cap. Now they can wear a modern patent-leather shoe and a black beret.

Almost any type of job except combat will be opened up to enlistees. The WACs, now mostly in clerical and administrative posts, will soon take their place alongside men as radar technicians, missile-repair crewmen, electronics specialist and heavy-equipment operator.

Blushes Banished In English Shop

LONDON (AP) — Sam Morris, head of a fashion store chain, hopes to boost his lingerie sales. Morris has seen strong men go weak at the knee when they ask girl sales assistants for underwear for their wives.

So he's opened a "blush bar" staffed by men in one of his London stores.

"A man can handle one woman at a time, but put him in a shop full of them and he panics," says 48-year-old Morris.

'Napalm Girl' Luckier Than Many At Hospital

by CARL D. ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Two months after napalm dropped by South Vietnamese planes sent 9-year-old Phan Thi Kim Phuc screaming in pain and panic down a highway northwest of Saigon, she has nearly recovered from her burns.

At the Basky Center, a hospital for plastic and reconstructive surgery in Saigon, Vietnamese surgeons trained in the United States planted a patchwork of stamp-sized grafts over her burned back, neck and arms.

She'll probably be home for school in the fall: not so with many of her friends.

More than 50 children and adults are at the Basky Center with faces and bodies scarred by war, accidents, disease and congenital defects.

There are burned ones, victims of war and home mishaps; people disfigured by mines and shell fragments, babies lying in cribs recovering from operations for cleft palates, a common birth defect in Vietnam; and the victims of noma, a still-unexplained disease which swiftly eats away facial tissue and bones.

Compared to the other patients, Kim Phuc is lucky.

Her fame as "the little girl in the newspaper" has caused some consternation among the doctors and nurses.

"I don't understand why she gets so much attention," says a Vietnamese plastic surgeon. "She is among the least seriously injured here and she will be going home soon."

Kim Phuc has a home to go to — a modest house among fruit trees in the town of Tang Bang, 25 miles northwest of Saigon. Unlike her, many Basky patients have only each other; their families are dead or lose touch as the patients, time in the hospital stretches out. Some patients stay for a year or more while the surgeons rebuild them.

Lam Luc, a 2-year-old, lost the lower part of his face to a shell fragment at An Loc. His father was killed. The doctors are rebuilding his mouth with plates and grafts, and he can eat again.

There is Nhan, a sad-faced, 8-year-old who sits on his bed constricted by a network of bandages securing a "tube" of skin from his arm to his face. Nhan is a noma victim. Doctors halted the spread of the disease and now are trying to encourage the facial skin to grow. Nhan is an orphan. A brother who used to visit him doesn't come any more, and Nhan doesn't know where he is.

Xuan Thi Thanh at 14 months the younger ones. Mentally retarded and epileptic, she fell in the family cooking fire and burned her face and arms. Her family, in the northern city of Da Nang, doesn't come now, and she smiles and clutches at visitors, begging for attention and love.

There is Son Si Men, a Cambodian boy who came more than a year ago with severe napalm burns. Several times he nearly died. He doesn't remember where his village is or what became of his family. But now, after months of delicate skin grafts, he puts on his hat and leaves for home, looking much older than 14. His eyes fill with tears as he says goodbye. A friend, he is told, will try to find his family.

There are the others: A soldier badly burned when his armored personnel carrier hit a mine in Laos over a year ago. A beautiful peasant girl blinded and disfigured by a booby trap while working in a field. An old woman, burned, sitting in a wheelchair in a corner, alone and shy. A dozen children recuperating from cleft palate operations, their arms in braces so they won't tear out the stitches.

The Basky Center began in a converted apartment in 1968 and moved into the present clinic at Cho Ray Hospital in 1969. It has treated more than 3,000 persons in four years, and the patients come now at the rate of 100 a month.

When first established, Basky was staffed almost completely by American and other Western doctors and nurses. An American administrator, Joyce Horn of Riverdale, Ill., remains, but most of the operations are done by Vietnamese doctors and nurses. There are three Vietnamese plastic surgeons, another in training, and more than 30 nurses.

The center is sponsored by the New York-based Children's Medical Relief International, which is headed by the noted American plastic surgeon, Dr. Arthur J. Barsky. Most of its financial support comes from the U.S. Agency for International Development, but its funds have been cut back like other foreign programs. Children's Medical Relief has begun a major money-raising effort to get private funds for the hospital.

The photograph of Kim Phuc fleeing down the highway moved Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to recommend $550,000 for Vietnam's burn victims, to be administered by Children's Medical Relief. The proposal is part of the current foreign aid bill.

Neighbors Replace Money 'Meanest Thief' Had Stolen

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Nashvillians have donated more than $800 to replace the $225 taken from a woman as she slept outside her husband's hospital room where he is confined with terminal illness.

"I just don't know what to say," she said tearfully after being told of the donations.

Mrs. Alfred Warren, who lives in Shelbyville south of Nashville, fell asleep early Saturday while keeping a vigil at St. Thomas Hospital where her husband is in the coronary care unit.

She awakened to find that someone had taken her last $225 and her husband's watch. The Warrens have five dependent children, a stack of unpaid bills and no groceries at home.

Hospital staffers chipped in $100. The total climbed to $837 as donations continued to be received at the hospital information desk.

After a story on the woman's plight moved nationally on news wires, a man from Kansas City called Nashville to offer $100 to the woman. There also were inquiries from Chicago about where to donate.

The largest donation was $225 from W. R. Queen, a Nashville tree surgeon. Along with his check, he sent a quotation from the Bible:

"Let him that stole steal no more: but let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth." (Eph. 4:28)

Consumer Hearings Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Officials of the Consumer Protection Division of the Ohio Department of Commerce expect to receive a barrage of complaints later this month at a series of seven fact-finding hearings to identify major areas of concern to the state's consumers.

Based on data already compiled, officials said they anticipate hearing more about home improvements, auto and appliance repairs, warranties and mobile homes than anything else as they tour the state.

Hearings are scheduled in Akron Aug. 8; Cleveland Aug. 9; Cincinnati Aug. 22; Portsmouth Aug. 23; Toledo Aug. 29; Dayton Aug. 30; and Columbus Aug. 31.

Results of the hearings will be used in the preparation of regulations to be issued by the division as authorized by passage of the Ohio Consumers Practice Act earlier this year.
